Attendance At Fair Breaks All Previous Records, On Friday

Attendance records for the New Castle fair fell with a thud Friday afternoon. Not since the fair was first organized has there been such a crowd as filled the grounds yesterday and for hours Friday night Croton avenue and the Harlansburg road were jammed with automobiles.

The thousands of cars on the fair grounds early overflowed the several acres allotted for parking and at four o'clock the lanes between the exhibition barns were filled, the area below them and on down below the racing barns cars were jammed in.

Ideal Weather

Ideal weather on Friday and the poor weather of Thursday were responsible for the crowd. In addition it was school children's day and the youngsters took advantage of the chance to see the fair.

Concessionaires were busy raking in the dimes, the eating stands were

HUNT MANIAC WHO LASHED HER

MRS. HELEN JAMES

Police on Chicago's west side hunted a masked maniac who forced Mrs. Helen James, above, bride of three months, to disrobe and then lashed her with a heavy studded whip and attacked her. The attack was the third of its kind attributed to the madman in three weeks. Before attacking Mrs. James, the man bound her husband, Orlando, to a chair and gagged him with a necktie after brandishing a pistol.

Text Of Communique By Italian Cabinet

(International News Service)

ROME, Sept. 21.—Following is the complete text of today's Italian cabinet communique rejecting League of Nations proposals for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

"The council of ministers met this morning at eleven o'clock under the presidency of Il Duce. Present were Minister Vecchi (public education), Thaon De Revel (finance), Solmi (justice), Rossoni (agriculture), Cobolli Gigli (public works), Benni (communications), and the secretary of the party (Achille Starace).

'Minister Ciano (Mussolini's son-in-law), being a volunteer in East Africa, was not present.

"The head of the government made a full report, lasting an hour, on the political and military situation as it has developed in the last few days.

"He then read and commented on the report communicated by Profes-

LEAGUE PROPOSALS IN ETHIOPIAN DISPUTE REJECTED BY ITALY

Premier Mussolini Throws Down Gauntlet To Great Britain, France And League Of Nations. See Some Hope Of Negotiations, Despite Rejection. League Representatives Appalled At Decision.

By International News Service

Premier Mussolini threw down the gauntlet to Great Britain, France, and the League of Nations today by flatly rejecting the League's proposals for settlement of his quarrel with Ethiopia.

Il Duce tossed the war ball back to Geneva by announcing, despite his rejection of present proposals, he would hold a further cabinet session next Tuesday. It was possible the league, although "appalled" today, might bring forth new proposals by then.

Today's developments in the European war crisis:

ROME—Italian cabinet in momentous session rejects proposed settlement of Ethiopian dispute, increasing war clouds by acting in defiance of British fleet threat and French warning Paris will stand by Britain in opposition to Ethiopian war.

GENEVA—League circles keenly disappointed at Il Duce's rejection, which was announced shortly after Emperor Haile Selassie cabled conditional acceptance and indicated whole-hearted willingness to co-operate.

LONDON—British officials frankly disappointed at Il Duce's stand, but insisted Britain would remain firm in her Mediterranean policy.

See Faint Hope

Geneva, Sept. 21.—Faint hope for peaceful settlement of the Ethiopian crisis was revived today as the League of Nations council committee of five reconvened to consider the tense situation precipitated by Italian rejection of its proposals for solution of the dispute.

Hard on the heels of a statement by an official Italian spokesman to International News Service that "Italy has no present intention of quitting the League of Nations," Italian delegates let it be known that rejection of particular suggestions did not mean rejection of all.

The spokesman's statement and the lates attitude of the Italian delegation allayed fears of an immediate rupture between Italy and the league.

Flat Rejection

Rome, Sept. 21.—Premier Benito Mussolini today flatly rejected the proposals of the League of Nations committee of five for settlement of his dispute with Ethiopia.

The decision, "taken by the council of ministers" at a momentous special session today, was based on the contention the proposals "do not offer a sufficient minimum basis" for settlement of the East African problem.

Rejection of the league's peace efforts, however, was regarded in some high quarters as being tempered by conciliatory wording of a communique issued after the cabinet session and announcing another meeting would be held Tuesday "to follow the developments of the political situation."

Some leaders close to Il Duce believed today's decision thus "closed but did not bolt" the door to an eventual settlement of the Ethiopian crisis.

Nevertheless the frank rejection on the league's committee's present proposals gravely darkened Europe's war clouds and brought even nearer probable date of Italy's projected invasion of Ethiopia.

The cabinet's action was taken in defiance of whatever threat lies in the massing of great air and naval fleets in the Mediterranean by Great Britain, and was taken without heed to a warning issued by France last night in a last-minute effort to stave off the flat rejection which was forthcoming.

Department Of Commerce Says Changes In Plane Partially To Blame

FINAL STATEMENT ON ROGER'S DEATH

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21— The airplane crash in which Will Rogers and Wiley Post were killed on Aug. 15 in northern Alaska probably was due partly to changes made in the plane, the department of commerce indicated today in its final report on the accident.

The accident board of the Bureau of Air Commerce after reciting the history of the case, explained:

"A study of the effect of the various changes made on the airplane indicated that it was decidedly nose-heavy and must have been emtremely difficult, if not impossible, to properly control without the aid of the engine. A statement made by the pilot after the change to pontoons confirms this conclusion.

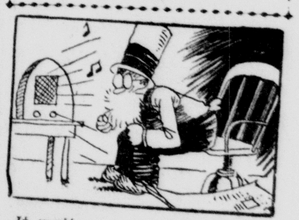

Failure Of Engine Mystery

"The exact cause of the engine failure cannot be determined. The temperature at the time was about 40 degrees and the failure could have been due to the engine having become cool while standing on the lagoon or to ice or water condensate forming in the carburetor.

"It is the opinion of the accident board that the probable cause of this accident was loss of control of the aircraft at a low altitude af-

Declares Italy Will Remain In League

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1935, by International News Service)

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—"Italy has no present intention of quitting the League of Nations," an official Italian spokesman told International News Service today soon after the Italian cabinet in Rome had rejected the League of Nations peace proposals.

The statement allayed fears of an immediate rupture between Italy and the League, but failed to dispel deep gloom which settled over Geneva with receipt of news of the flat rejection of the league's proposed settlement.

This gloom drowned out hopes which had been raised earlier in the day by virtual approval of the peace plan by Emperor Haile Selassie in a message to his chief delegate here, Bedjurond Tecle Hawariate.

The league's council's committee of five, which had drafted the rejected proposals, hastily prepared to meet at 6:30 p. m. today to consider the new crisis.

Committee To Meet

The league council's committee of five, which had drafted the rejected proposals, hastily prepared to meet again Monday or Tuesday after the return here of Premier Pierre Laval of France to hear the report of its chairman, Salvator De Madariaga of Spain.

The committee then will report to the council itself, and the council will deliberate whether to adopt the findings of the committee.

If the council makes a report of its own, noting that one party accepted the proposals and the other rejected them, then Italy would have no "legal" right, under the league covenant, to declare war on Ethiopia, whereas if both rejected the proposals, war would be "illegal" for three months.

At the first outbreak of hostilities the council would meet again to decide which nations were the aggressor. After that League of Nations members would be called upon for application of sanctions.

All this probably would take many weeks.

John Barrymore Eludes Elaine

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21—John Barrymore eluded his persistent protege, Elaine Barrie, again today.

When the American royal of the Burlington railroad arrived at 8:10 a. m. Barrymore was not aboard. He had alighted at the municipal airport, an unscheduled stop two miles north of this city, and after waiting a few minutes in the terminal there suddenly disappeared.

Barrymore did not engage a plane and it was believed he was hiding here, waiting for the Santa Fe's California limited, on which he had reservations for Hollywood.

Daring Lone Flyer Leaves New York For Long Hop Over Sea

HOPES TO FLY OVER 4200 MILES

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

FLOYD BENNETT FIELD, NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A daring aviator took off in the gray light of dawn here today on a 4500-mile solo nonstop flight to Kaunas, Lithuania.

He is Lieut. Felix Waitkus, veteran United States army reserve flyer.

Waitkus' Lockheed Vega monoplane left the airport runway and took to the air at 6:45 a. m. EDT.

Waitkus, who has been planning his flight for more than a month, hoped to cover the 4500-mile stretch in 28 hours.

If he succeeds he will have established new speed and distance records for a solo flight.

School Football Player Is Hurt

Masontown High Player In Hospital Suffering With Brain Hemorrhage

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21.—Sixteen-year-old Paul Lewellen, Masontown high school football player, who collapsed in the dressing room after playing a complete game against another scholastic team, hovered between life and death today in Uniontown hospital where he was rushed for emergency treatment of a brain hemorrhage.

Hospital attaches said the youth, son of a prominent Masontown business man, had not regained consciousness this morning. His condition was described as "very grave."

Lewellen appeared in strong shape as he played the center position in the game against German township high school and was instrumental in the touchdown drive effected by his team which lost by a close 7-5 score. He played without having any time-out called for him.

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 21.—In a further step in preparing residents of Gibraltar for possible war, the authorities today issued to inhabitants pamphlets containing full instructions on what to do in event of an air raid.

Issuance of the pamphlet followed closely a public notice warning the population to be ready to extinguish all lights at a moment's notice. Residents laid in large stocks of candles.

Seek Exoneration In Girl Shooting For Young Rogers

Inquest Into Death Of Evelyn Hoey To Be Concluded On Monday

ROGERS DENIES SHOOTING GIRL

Says He Would Have Given His Life To Keep Her From Shooting

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa. Sept. 21—The feeling prevailed in this quiet, Quaker Town today that Henry Huddleston Rogers, Jr., and his friends, William J. Kelly motion picture camerman, would be exonerated of all connection with the death of Evelyn Hoey when the inquest into the young stage star's passing is concluded on Monday.

At last night's session of the inquest, the highlight came when Rogers was asked by the district attorney:

"Did you shoot Evelyn Hoey?"

Didn't Shoot Girl

For the first time in two hours of testimony which held a courtroom rapt he raised his voice to its heights.

"No, I'd do anything in the world for Miss Hoey! I..I'd have given my life to keep her from shooting."

The singer, who was shot to death the night of Sept. 11 in his bedroom at Indian Run farm, died by her own hand, he swore.

There was no doubt that the young standard oil heir's remarks were taken seriously by the spectators and by the six men who comprise the coroner's jury. They listened attentively to his words and were palpably sympathetic to his emotions.

At the conclusion of the session, William E. Parke, the district at-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:

In a secluded spot at Gaston park, I found a most important bit of wild life, a bittern. The bird seemingly was hurt, as it tried to use its wings in an effort to fly. I managed to catch the bird after it had made some vicious stabs at my hand with its long bill. All the time making a croaking sound chunk-a-lunk. After examining the bird closely I found it had a bruise on its wing, the feaurers and were clotted with blood. (I wonder what caused this.) The bittern is a wild and shy bird, and it is of the migratory family. And is a rare bird in most locations, but where it habits it nests is found in grass tufts and under low bushes. Many of the people passing on the diamond ask me the name of the four trees that carry the red berry pods, these trees face Jefferson street, and for those interested they are known as Mountain Ash.

Character Chest Board Is Formed

Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., And Boy Scout Agencies Are Included

PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR YEAR'S SUPPORT

Community Chest Will Not Be Active During Coming Year

Formation of a permanent community body to be known as the Character Chest Board of New Castle by the three character-building agencies of the city, the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and the Boy Scouts of America, was officially made known today by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church and the man chosen by the organization to be its president.

The formal organization climaxed months of effort on the part of officials of the three groups and heralded the definite establishment here of a movement to promote general interest in the cause of character-building.

Purpose Is Two-Fold.

Dr. Bennett, who said the organization was effected yesterday, pointed out that the new Character Chest's purpose is two-fold:

"First," the minister said, "we have organized to secure funds necessary for continued operation of the three participtating agencies, and second, we have organized to permanently promote in the New Castle area the general interest in character-building work."

Find Man Slain In Parked Auto Near Allentown

Seek Possible Connection Between Murder And Jail Break

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21—Lacking tangible evidence for such a theory detectives today, nevertheless, investigated a possible link between a jail break and an apparent murder, both of which occurred between dusk and dawn.

The slain victim of a brutal attack, a man tentatively identified as Charles Wetzel, an employe of the public relations department of the United Gas improvement company, Philadelphia, was found with his skull bashed in.

Found In Car

The victim, sitting in his car parked along the banks of the Lehigh river, was found, police said, by a "tramp" several hours after five men escaped over the wall of the Lehigh county prison. A bloody handkerchief and one of the victim's shoes was discovered lying near the river's edge.

G. M. Jones, editor of the U. G. I. company's magazine for employes and an associate of Wetzel in the public relations department of the company, revealed in Philadelphia that Wetzel had gone to Allentown yesterday to visit the Allentown-Bethlehem Gas company, a subsidiary of U. G. I.

"This thing hits me hard," Jones said, "as I was to have accompanied Wetzel to Allentown."

Coal Industry Strike Looms

Wage Negotiations Have Collapsed, Strike May Effect 450,000 Miners

DEADLOCK EXISTS ON PAY INCREASE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Danger of a general strike of 450,000 workers in the soft coal industry loomed once again today as negotiations between union leaders and operators collapsed.

With the strike set for Monday, Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward McGrady issued an urgent call for a meeting of the full Appalachian conference here tomorrow.

It was a subcommittee of this body, composed of two Appalachian producers and two United Mine Workers which failed last night to end the deadlock that has gripped the discussions for months.

Operators Split

The immediate issue on which the deadlock exists is the miners' demand for a pay increase of 50 cents a ton. The mine owners, bound by unit rule, are split on the question

Stalled Auto Wrecks Train; Five Are Killed

Six Others Injured As Result Of Crash In Illinois

FOURTEEN RACE HORSES ALSO KILLED

(International News Service)

HILLSBORO, Ill., Sept. 21.—Five persons were dead today and six lay injured as the result of a collision between an automobile and a crack Chicago and Eastern Illinois passenger train near here yesterday afternoon.

In addition, 14 race horses, being transported in one of the cars, were destroyed because of injuries.

The engine, tender and two of the forward cars, including that in which the horses were kept, toppled over at the impact.

The dead were identified as Edward Edlemesser, 51, of Villa Grove, Ill., the engineer; Daniel MacDougall, 50, fireman; Mrs. Edward Danmann, Hillsboro, occupant of the auto; Henry Smith, Villa Grove. The fifth victim, a man about 40, was pinned under the horse car and could not be identified by attendants of the animals.

All those injured were either stable boys or jockeys riding in the same car with their mounts, all of which were owned by the Motor City stables of Detroit, according to information furnished by railroad officials.

Mrs. Danmann's car was stalled at the grade crossing about a mile north of the town's station. She was unable to clamber to safety before the roaring train struck.

Extend Search For Young Boy In Mountains

Paul "Sunny" Goughenour, Missing In Mountain Region Near Bedford, Pa.

(International News Service)

BEDFORD, Pa., Sept. 21.—Missing for more than 24 hours, little Paul "Sunny" Goughenour, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Goughenour of near Madley, was sought throughout the entire mountainous region between Madley and Glen Savage today.

The two and a half year old child wandered away from his home early yesterday morning. An all-night hunt for him proved fruitless and the searching parties of nearby residents were augmented by county officers and civilian conservation corps workers.

Parents of the boy said they first missed him yesterday morning, but thinking he was at play somewhere, felt no alarm. It was not until the child failed to return to his farm home at night that an alarm was spread.

Comb Mountainside.

Neighbors took up the search and then called the sheriff's office. State police took charge of the hunt, aided by 65 CCC workers from Blue Mole camp.

The desolate mountainside of this area was to be combed. Sheriff David Calhoun, however, said it was not probable that the infant wandered so far from home.

Authorities pressed their search, keeping in mind the so-called "tragedy of the Alleghenies" many years ago, when four children disappeared only to be found dead four days later in the mountain fastnesses of the region.

Man Is Injured By "Joke" Motorist

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 21.—Presley Wiltrout, 25, Scottdale, was in Frick Memorial hospital today with injuries inflicted by a "joke" hit and run motorist.

Wiltrout was said to have been struck by an automobile that swerved toward him while he was climbing a fence along a highway near Scottdale. He suffered leg and abdomen injuries.

COL. ATTERBURY SUCCUMBS

Former Head Of P. R. R. Dies

Retired From Active Service With Railroad Company Last Spring

HAD BEEN ILL FOR SEVERAL MONTHS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Death today had claimed General William Wallace Atterbury, retired president of the Pennsylvania Railroad and one of the best known railroad men in the world.

Stricken suddenly with apoplexy as he sat chatting with relatives, Atterbury died within a few minutes at Bryn Mawr hospital late yesterday. He was 69.

His death marked the passing of one of the most vigorous and colorful figures of the post-war era—an outstanding leader in the nation's industrial life and a power in politics. During the World War, Atterbury went to France and assumed charge as director general of transportation of the American Expeditionary Forces. For his services he was awarded the distinguished service medal.

Death Is Shock

Although he had been in ill health for several months, his death came as a shock. He entered Bryn Mawr hospital eight days ago for observation but his family and friends did not believe he was in immediate danger.

Immediately after he was stricken, his wife, Mrs. Arminia R. Atterbury, was summoned. She and his sons, W. W. Atterbury, Jr., a Yale student, and Malcolm A. Atterbury, were at his bedside when he died. Two other children, George R. Atterbury, who is at Harvard, and Mrs. Elizabeth Connelly, of Ardmore, were not present.

Arrangements were made last night for the funeral, which will be held at 3 p. m. Monday, Daylight Time, in the Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr. Rev. Dr. Ernest C. Earp, the rector, will conduct the service.

Apart from his prominence as head of a great railroad system and a former member of the Republican National Committee, he was known equally well for his rise from the obscurity of a laborer's job in the Pennsyvania railroad's plant at Altoona to the president's office—a post he held from October 1, 1925 until he retired last April and named his own successor, Martin W. Clement.

clogged and it looked as though it would have been impossible to get any more people in the grand stand and the area in front of it. All around the track thousands imperiled the fence as they leaned over to watch the races, the auto-polo, the dare devil driving and the cavalcade.

Back in the office where the receipts were being counted, President Charles E. McGrath and Manager A. Clyde Shoaff were in what might be termed a glow. It was the first time in years that everything had clicked all on the same day and the results of Friday's gate will go far to insure the operation of a fair next year.

Racing is continuing this afternoon and the best horses of the meet will be out there trying for a track record. By tomorrow morning the cattle and horse exhibits will be on their way to other fairs or to their home farms, the racing barns will be empty, the midway will be deserted and the huge grounds will begin its long winter wait for next fair time.

New Office To Be Created In Washington, D. C.

Office Of Arms And Munitions Control Will Be Established

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Establishment in the state department of an office of arms and munitions control was announced by Secretary Cordell Hull today.

The purpose of the new office will be to carry out enforcement of the munitions control act whereby all American munitions merchants are required to register with the state department and are forbidden to ship any arms or munitions out of the country without a license from the secretary of state.

The new office also will be charged with handling all problems arising in connection with this country's traffic in arms abroad.

Warner Is Highest In Intelligence Test For Class

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 21.—Three Westminster freshmen received intelligence test rankings almost double the medium grade in the annual test given incoming classes under the American Council on Education.

The top ranking freshman was Robert W. Warner, of New Castle.

Second in ranking was Miss Leah Naugle, Pittsburgh, winner of the Phi Beta Kappa scholarship to Westminster.

Ranking third was Miss Jane Calvert, Alliance, O.

All three students ranked thirty points above their nearest competitors in the freshman class.

Military History Will Be Compiled

Through the agency of the Works Progress Administration, Lawrence county will have a complete military history prepared in the near future. The project has been approved by the local office and is expected to go through the regular course of approvals in Harrisburg and Washington inside of the next four weeks.

The project is sponsored by the county commissioners, but the cost of the materials, about $350, will be borne by the Perry S. Gaston post No. 343, American Legion.

It is planned to have written a complete history of Lawrence county's part in the various wars, a roster of ex-service men if possible, a map showing the location of cemeteries wherein ex-service men are buried and other valuable data.

State Troopers Join Allentown Police In Hunt For Escaped Prisoners

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21.—State troopers joined county authorities today in an intensive search for two of five prisoners who escaped over the wall of the Lehigh county jail after slugging a guard and locking him in a cell.

Less than two hours after the daring break, three of the prisoners were recaptured. The other two made good their escape after deserting one of their pals who had been crippled by a broken leg.

The recaptured prisoners are Philip Manzella, Detroit gunman, accused of robbing two banks in this vicinity, his right leg broken in the 20-foot drop over the prison wall; Joseph Steirer, of Allentown, charged with automobile thefts; Edwin Hetrick, of Bethlehem, jailed for burglary.

Still at liberty were Fred Kohl, of Allentown, serving a term for escaping from the same jail last spring, and Fred Meckes, of Allentown, charged with automobile thefts and purported ringleader of the break.

movement at this time, Dr. Bennett asserted that many young men and women now finishing school have nowhere to go in leisure hours these days, and declared it the duty of character-building groups to provide a place.

Drive Is Planned.

At the meeting on Friday afternoon, he said, definite plans for the Character Chest's 1935-36 drive for operating funds was set for the week of Sunday, October 20. He said the campaign, to be managed entirely by local leaders, would be launched in local churches. The goal established is $25,000.

Arrangements were inaugurated yesterday for the selection of the drive's directors and personnel. They will be announced shortly.

The new Character Chest organization, it was pointed out, was established to fill the gap left open when the New Castle Community Chest voted a temporary recess this year. There is to be no general Community Chest drive.

Expect To Make Study.

"We hope through research and study," Dr. Bennett went on to explain as he spoke of the needed organization, "to determine needs that should be met here. We hope to study conditions in other cities to learn how the moral cause is promoted, especially among the young men and women."

Chosen to serve with Dr. Bennett in the new movement were Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser, vice president; Miss Nancy Bechtol, secretary and treasurer. Officers of the three groups are represented in the organization.

Today plans were being furthered for the organization of the campaign in which $25,000 is desired to finance the work of the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts during the coming year.

torney of Chester county, also expressed his belief that the two men would go free.

"Can't Hold Them"

"There isn't anything I can see that would hold these men in a court of law," he said.

One of the eight lawyers who rallied to the defense of the 31 year old playboy and black sheep of the Rogers clan, remarked scathingly:

"Holding these two boys—I never saw anything like it in this county."

The counsel, ex-judge Robert S. Gawthrop of West Chester, former chief of the state liquor board, said Rogers and Kelley anticipated a formal verdict of suicide by Monday night and lifting of their bail bonds.

Only the police and medical men remain to be examined before Coroner Harvey G. Cox. Rogers and Kelley have told their stories of a self-destruction. So have all the other major witnesses.

Tells Of Relations

Until he reached dramatic denial of murder, young Rogers told, for the most part, a frank, calm story of his relations with the 25 year old crooning contralto who had lost her voice and was afraid that if she went back to St. Louis and Minneapolis, her birthplace, she would never again attain white way stardom.

Unsuccessfully he fought back the tears as he told of finding her body at Indian Run farm, his country estate, five minutes after he had upbraided her for "sending telegrams all over the country."

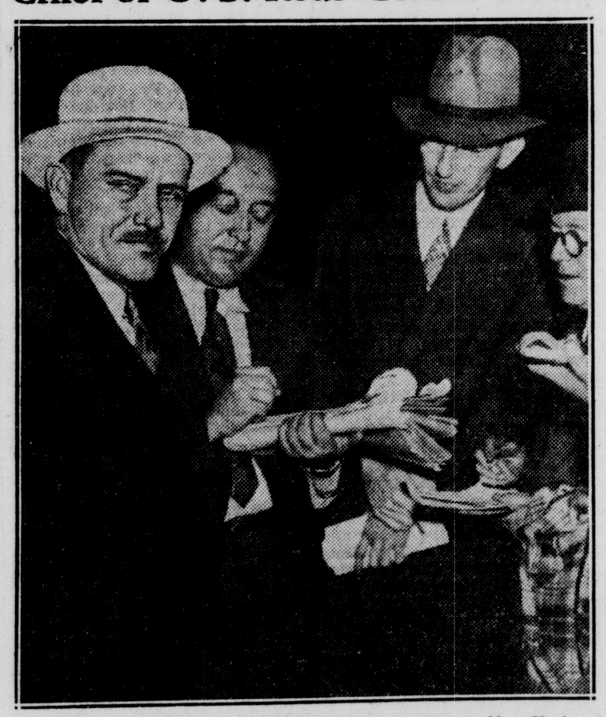

Young Rogers, estranged from his wife, Virginia Lincoln Rogers, one-time Cleveland debutante, recited how his last words to the girl whom Broadway had seen so often at his side formed a sharp reproof:

"Don't be silly."

They were both a little tight. There had been harsh words between them and he had ripped out the telephone box when she was trying to reach her mother for train fare back to New York.

There is one way to get Americans interested in the waste of natural resources. Tell them it is none of their business.

Chief of U. S. Reds Comes Home

"It was surprising that the speeches we make so often in New York get so much attention when we go abroad," Earl Browder (l.), secretary of the Communist Party in the U. S., the post that corresponds to Stalin's in the Communist Party in Russia, told reporters as he returned to New York from Soviet. Speeches he made before Comintern, revolutionary organization, stirred tempest. (Central Press)

Deaths of the Day

Julian Dudek Funeral.

Evangelist Will Use Carnegie Auditorium

Mission Services Will Be Held There Sunday And Through Week

So that a larger crowd may be accomodated. Evangelist Mary Hubbert Ellis will conduct her Sunday afternoon rivival service at Carnegie auditorium on South Jefferson street. The program will open at 2:45.

Last night the City Rescue Mission hall was crowded as the evangelist, assisted by other speakers and musicians, spoke on "What Think Ye of Christ?" The mission brought Rev. Ellis here a week ago.

All services next week, it was announced, will be held in Carnegie auditorium.

A saxophone trio under the direction of Don Potter of the Epworth M. E. church furnished musical numbers for the service last night. Bud Rigby will be soloist on Sunday afternoon. Choir singers should report at 2 tomorrow.

LEAGUE PROPOSALS REJECTED BY ITALY

ambassador in Rome, told Il Duce France would stand by Britain in upholding the League of Nations covenant to the limit in event Italy wages war against Ethiopia without awaiting the league councils decision.

The rejected proposals envisaged a form of international control of Ethiopia but did not specifically give Italy special rights, it was understood.

The proposed settlement, reached after weeks of discussion in Geneva, was rejected as "unacceptable" because it does "not offer a sufficient minimum basis for a conclusive realization which would finally and effectively take into account the vital rights and interests of Italy."

Although foreign observers here commented gravely on the decision pointing out the close proximity of specially massed British and Italian air and naval fleets in the Mediterranean created a situation fraught with peril, high Italian quarters thought some solution yet possible.

This solution probably could not be reached at Geneva, they held but they pointed out the possibility of reaching it by direct negotiations had not been exhausted.

Gravely Disappointed

London, Sept. 21—British diplomats were gravely disappointed today on learning of Italy's rejection of the League of Nations proposed settlement of the Ethiopian affair.

British official circles made it plain their hopes were low.

News agency texts of the Italian communique were communicated immediately to prime minister Stanley Baldwin, Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign minister, and other cabinet officials.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin is watching developments from chequers, the country chancellery, but will return to London tomorrow, when other cabinet ministers are also expected to return for a cabinet meeting tentatively scheduled for Tuesday.

Meanwhile informal conferences on whatever Rome results are known will be held over the weekend.

The British press continued to debate the question of sunctions against Italy, speculating on how they would operate and what the consequences would be if either economic or military penalties are attempted.

But, as Sir John Simon, foreign minister during the early period of the Italio-Ethiopian quarrel, and now home minister, pointed out in a speech, the actual question of sanctions has not yet arisen.

"If the question does come up" he said, "it will be for the league as a whole to deal with it."

Any attempted economic boycott of an aggressor by the League would be ineffective, the morning post said unless not only the whole league membership, but also the United States, Germany, and Japan supported the ban.

"It is obvious," said the Post, "that the league lacks the physical resources to carry out its own obligations."

Don't get the two words mixed. A man's principal makes interest, but his interests make his principles.

LOCAL FOLKS ATTEND SYRACUSE WEDDING

Several local people were in Syracuse, N. Y., this week where they attended the wedding on Sept. 16, of Lucia Chapman, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. L. S. Chapman, to Attorney Edward F. Beadel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Beadel, of Syracuse.

The groom who is a nephew of Mrs. Edward W. Beadel of Rhodes Place, and Mrs. Charles W. Beadel, of Reis street, is well known in New Castle among the younger set. Up for the wedding from here Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dingledy, nee Martha Beadel, whose own marriage is a recent event, William Beadel of Rhodes Place, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boley, formerly of Buenos Aires, S. A.

Mr. Beadel and the Boleys have returned to New Castle but the Dingledys went on to Booth Bay Harbor, Maine, where they will stay until next week.

Corn And Wiener Roast

Thirteen members of the Italian Mothers' Club, out of a membership of 23, enjoyed a corn and wiener roast in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening, the sudden rainstorm that evening making a change in plans from Cascade park necessary.

After enjoying the abundant and appetizing menu, the group with their leader, Mrs. J. Elder Bryan, played games in the Green Room. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Lizzie Puluso, and Mrs. Madeline Champ.

On Thursday evening, October 3, the club will have a meeting in the Y. W. C. A. when it is planned to crochet pocketbooks.

Loyal Leaders Gather

Mrs. Mina Herbold of Euclid avenue, proved a delightful hostess Friday evening for the members of the Loyal Leaders class from the First Christian church.

It was a perfect opening to the new year's activities and, after the business program, radio music was enjoyed. The home was colorfully bedecked with fall flowers and was a lovely setting for the gathering. A tasty lunch was served by Mrs. Herbold, assisted by Mrs. Marget Ketchem and Mrs. Christine Houk.

Class To Meet.

Member of the Workers Together class of the Croton Avenue M. E. church, taught by Mrs. C. E. Allen, will meet Monday evening at the home of Misses Ethel and Louise Munnell on the East Brook road, with Miss Doris Leonard as associate hostess.

A. P. GIBSON AND WIFE FIFTY YEARS MARRIED

This year seems to be especially noted for the numerous golden weddings that have dotted the calendar from time to time, and another of interest, is to be observed by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson P. Gibson, of New Castle, R. D. 6, which is to take place at their home near Princeton on Tuesday, September 24.

Mr. Gibson took for his bride on September 24, 1885, Florence Houk, the ceremony being performed at the parsonage of the Center United Presbyterian church, with the late Rev. A. K. Duff, officiating. To this union were born three children, Mrs. Agnes Aiken who passed away ten years ago, Mrs. Vance Wilson now residing at Portersville, and a son, Harry Gibson, Adams street, this city. They have nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

As a means of celebration, a picnic dinner has been planned for all relatives at 12 o'clock noon on this memorable date. Following, this distinguished couple will receive friends and neighbors from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and in the evening from 7 until 10 o'clock. It is expected many will participate at the event.

DESSERT-BRIDGE AT FIELD CLUB FRIDAY

Field Club women, assembled at their club rooms Friday afternoon, and participated in another of their delightful card parties, this being their dessert-bridge event, with Mrs. F. A. Schulz presiding as hostess.

After the usual serving of a delicious dessert, the guests entered into competing for bridge honors. Trophies were later awarded to Mrs. J. H. Gibson and Mrs. J. F. Perelman at the close of play.

On Friday, October 4, the club members will have a similiar party, the hostess being Mrs. J. H. Gibson for this date.

Mattocks-Houk

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Houk, are on a trip down the Shenandoah valley, following their marriage September 1, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mattocks, New Castle R. D. 1.

The bride was the former Helen Mattocks, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Houk, of Ellwood City, R. D. 1. Rev. R. H. Little, pastor of the M. E. church, at Ellwood, performed the ceremony at 11:35 in the morning, before an embankment of lovely flowers and greenery. Only the immediate families and relatives were present. Following the reception afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Houk departed on their trip.

For her wedding, the bride chose a poudre blue ankle length dress, with which American Beauty roses harmonized.

Mrs. Patton's Class

The Misses Dorothy and Betty Boughter, of East Washington St., entertained Mrs. Norman Patton's Sunday school class of the Second United Presbyterian church at a pleasant Friday evening gathering.

A part of the evening was turned over to a business session, in charge of Miss Marjorie McGeorge. A period of bingo followed and the Misses Martha Jackson, Fern Metzer and Dorothy Sowash were the prize winners.

Lunch was served and places were set for ten.

In October Mrs. Jack Thompson, of 940 Adams streets, will receive the class.

Polish Home Circle

Mrs. V. Sonczek proved a delightful hostess Thursday evening, when she entertained members of the Polish Home circle. Games and bingo were played throughout the evening with prizes going to Mrs. K. Ambrezewicz, Mrs. M. Konopka, Mrs. H. Kopsky, Mrs. N. Kendra and J. Jopek.

In two weeks, Mrs. J. Sharek will entertain the club at her home on East Long avenue.

At Stitchberry Home

Mr. and Mrs. W. Merrick Saulsbury, Mr. and Mrs. G. Austin Smith and Miss M. Ellena Sausbury have returned to their home at Oxford, Md., after visiting at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stitchberry at Walmo. Mrs. A. B. Mason is a house guest this week at the home of her uncle, F. E. Stitchberry, at Walmo.

SURPRISE LUNCHEON FOR MRS. BEISEL

Friday, a group of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary McBride Beisel, on Wallace avenue, for a casserole luncheon.

The affair was a complete surprise to the honored one, but after recovering her composure, she entered into the spirit of the occasion and helped the women arrange small tables, upon which were placed casseroles of tasty food.

In the afternoon, the group sat about and talked, the affair proving one which will long linger in the memory of Mrs. Beisel.

B. AND O. WOMEN'S AFTERNOON PARTY

An old fashioned spelling bee provided a delightful innovation from the regular program for members of the B. & O. Women's Cooperative Program committee which had the regular meeting in the city building Friday afternoon.

After dividing the group into two sides, captained by Mrs. Joseph Quigley and Miss Agnes Barnes, Mrs. J. L. Cole brought forth her speller and much merriment was occasioned as each side tried to spell down the other. Finally, Miss Agnes Barnes and Miss Julia Quinn were the only two left standing, so of course they won and were incidentally awarded the prizes for their spelling ability.

Tasty refreshments were served at long tables which were lovely with beautiful fall flowers. A feature of this hour was a shower of dainty hankies for the afternoon's chairman, Mrs. C. J. Bernhart, whose birthday occurred Friday. These bits of lace and linen were gifts from the social commitee in charge, composed of Mrs. Theodore Nelson, who made the presentation; Mrs. H. D. Horner, Mrs. Fred M. Fox, Mrs. H. G. Tetlow, Mrs. James H. Eagan, Mrs. M. R. Olmstead, Mrs. John Morrissey, Mrs. Philip Wink, Mrs. O. F. Shaffer, Mrs. J. F Titus and Mrs. J. E. Davies.

MISS ERMA SONTUM HONORED AT SHOWER

Miss Jane Horchler, of the Mahoning road, charmingly entertained a group of young friends on Friday night at a shower in honor of Miss Irma Sontum, who is to be the bride of Clair Badger on the 28th of this month.

Twelve were present who found interest in bingo and other games. The prizes were won by Mrs. Floyd Geiger and Miss Katherine Hannon.

When the evening drew to a close Miss Sontum was presented with a number of lovely gifts. Included was a box of homemade canned fruit and jelly, bedecked in gay cellophane.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. E. A. Horchler, at a table lovely in pink and green. Streamers fell from the chandelier to each place.

Monsio-Habib

This morning at 10:30 o'clock, the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of the St. Vitus church, performed a pretty wedding when he joined together in holy matrimony, Miss Katherine Monsio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Onofrio Monsio, of 413 Bleakley avenue, and John Habib, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Habib, of 508 North Locust street.

Miss Monsio was stunning in a white satin gown, a veil of real lace caught with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried an armful of calla lilies. Miss Jennie George, maid of honor, wore pink satin with blue accessories. Her bouquet was of roses and baby breath. Stanley Exposito served as best man. Little Josephine Carlo, was flower girl and Phillip Carlo was ring bearer.

Following the ring ceremony, members of the immediate families and a few invited guests enjoyed a delicious dinner served in the bride's home. This afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Habib will depart for a honeymoon through Ohio. They will reside at 421 West Grant street, upon returning.

Kitchen Shower.

In honor of Mrs. Robert Nelson, nee Florence Cox, whose marriage was a recent event, a number of friends gathered at the home of Miss Marjorie Truxell on Lorain avenue last evening.

Cards and games formed the diversions of the evening, at which Mrs. J. E. Henle was awarded the prize for high score.

The girls were later invited to the Dining room, which was decorated in yellow and white, for a dainty lunch which was served by Mrs. C. H. Lee and Miss Twila Truxell.

In a clever manner, the bride was given a number of useful gifts as remembrances from her friends.

Depart For Kansas.

Mrs. Milan La Du, nee Catherine Wilson, and her young son Richard left today from the municipal airport, Pittsburgh, for Kansas City, Mo., to join Dr. La Du, who has been located there for the past three week.

While he teaches this winter in the university at Kansas City, the La Du family will reside there. During the summer they have been the guests of Mrs. La Du's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine A. Balph of Wallace avenue.

All Day Meeting

An all day meeting of the Queen Sewing Circle was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Back, on Sumner avenue. At noon, a tasty lunch was served by the hostess and her daughter, Charlotte, and the business meeting was held afterwards. Decorations about the home were bouquets of fall flowers.

The next meeting will take place October 3, at the home of Mrs. William Crowe, Dewey avenue.

G. T. E. Club Meeting

Members of the G. T. E. club met at the home of Mrs. Jack Jones, Forest street, Thursday evening. Cards furnished diversion, with prizes going to Mrs. Charles Alexandria, Mrs. Clyde Lloyd and Mrs. Earl White. Afterwards, the hostess served a tasty repast, with Mrs. Charles Richardson, assisting.

On Thursday, October 3, the club will be received by Mrs. Ray Muder, Jr., Lathrop street.

RECENT BRIDE HONORED BY H. G. L. GIRLS CLUB

Delightfully informal was the meeting Friday evening of H. G. L. Girls in the home of Mrs. Clare Kerr, Rose avenue, who entertained at their regular club session, featured with a surprise shower for one of their number, Mrs. Thomas Cromie, nee Edna Strobel, a bride of recent date.

The guests devoted their attention to various contests, including bingo, and at the conclusion of this part of the program, novel prizes were awarded to Mrs. Margaret Richards, Mrs. Dorothy Raney, Mrs. Laura Evans and Mrs. Ethel McGuire.

Upon being invited into the dining room, which was thrown into view as the drapes were drawn back, a unique scene greeted the eyes of the guests and took the honored one by complete surprise. The center of the table was graced with three parasols in shower effect, a large one in the middle, with smaller ones on either side in tones of pink and green. From these were attached streamers of the same hues, and on opposite ends were found parasols in miniature to match, marking each place. These little favors concealed the futures of the participants, in rhyme. At this time attention was taken from lunch and the honored one was given instructions to look about the house. A treasure hunt party was formed and in completing orders, Mrs. Cromie returned with an array of beautiful miscellaneous gifts to use in her home.

In serving a dainty collation later, the hostess was aided by her sister, Miss Jessie Harper, and Mrs. Ethel McGuire. They planned to meet again in two weeks, the place to be decided.

GEORGE P. JONES IS HONORED BY CHOIR

Following its regular rehearsal on Friday night the choir of the First Baptist church assembled in the church dining room and did honor to George P. Jones, who has been a choir member for nearly 50 years, and who is leaving, with his wife and daughter, on October 1 to make his home in Florida.

Long tables presented a pretty picture with their center bouquets of fall flowers. Refreshments were served and then D. S. Williams, president of the choir, presented Mr. Jones with a lovely gift, at the same time expressing the regret of all the choir members over his forthcoming departure. Mr. Jones responded in a fitting manner, saying that it was not easy to go after so many splendid memories of his association with the choir.

Mrs. Jones was present also and was given a surprise shower of handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Paul D. Weller, Mrs. William Harris and Mrs. Stanley Reese comprised the committee of arrangements.

JUANITA MEMBERS AT HIGGINS HOME

Mrs. Ralph Higgins of East Washington street opened her home Friday evening to members of the Juanita club, the occasion marking their regular bi-weekly gathering.

Cards featured, and a contest in 500 provided entertainment during the early hours, with prizes falling to Mrs. John Black, Mrs. John Gaston and Mrs. Earl Bishop. After the serving of a dainty menu by the hostess, plans were completed for their next meeting in two weeks, which will be held at the residence of Mrs. L. A. Wygant, Wilmington avenue.

Strayer-Hoag

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kephart, of 1424 West Washington street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Katherine C. Strayer, to Frank Hoag, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoag, of Cameron, Pa.

They were married at the parsonage of Savannah M .E. church, with the pastor, Rev. V. L. Bloomquist, in the evening of August 31, this year. They left for a wedding trip immediately following.

The groom is employed in Pittsburgh and Mrs. Hoag is employed by the J. C. Penney company here. They will make their home in Pittsburgh after the first of the year.

EXECUTIVE BOARDS PLANS LUNCHEON

Mrs. J. Johnson Fisher, president of Current Events class, entertained her executive board Friday afternoon, at her summer cottage on the Wilmington road, to make plans for the opening luncheon October 14. Special guests were members of the June picnic committee; Mrs. C. Allan Ingals, Mrs. Carmi Glover, Mrs. A. P. Treser.

Arrangements are in charge of the executive board, members of which will head committees. Decorations, Miss Nora Hough; menu, Miss Mollie Davis, Mrs. Ralph S. Reed; program, Mrs. J. E. Duff, Mrs. D. N. Keast, Mrs. Frank Fisher, Mrs. W. G. Moody.

KERR-GRAHAM WEDDING NEWS

Mrs. Ida Patton of 205 Sheridan avenue, announces the marriage of her granddaughter, Hazel Blanche Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kerr, 505 Martin street, to Irvin Robert Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Graham of 794 Erie avenue, which is of interest to many here. The ceremony was performed Thursday, September 19 at the home of Mrs. Ida Patton, with Rev. C. O. Flaugher of Portsmouth, Ohio, a cousin of the bride, officiating in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride was attired in a moss green crepe creation, with matching accessories, and wore a shoulder bouquet of tea roses. Miss Roberta Kerr, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Charles H. Adams of Fulkerson street, served as best man.

At 6 o'clock, in the spacious dining room of the Patton residence, dinner was served to twenty guests.

The main table was graced with two large wedding cakes, one topped with a bride and groom in miniature, the ornaments taken from the golden wedding anniversary cake of the brides grandparents. A reception was held in the evening, and the newlyweds were the recipients of an array of beautiful gifts.

Mr. Graham and his bride, will reside for the present, at the home of the formers parents at 714 Erie avenue.

GARDEN CLUB TO PLANT SHADE TREES

Shade trees will be planted on the playground at Mahoningtown school and feeding stations for birds will be erected in the park on Liberty street, as a result of a decision made by one of the Mahoningtown progressive organizations, the Garden Club, which met at the home of Mrs. F. W. Guy, on North Liberty street, Friday evening.

A good attendance answered roll call by naming varieties of grasses, after which the program consisting of papers was enjoyed. Mrs. James Agan spoke on "Zinnias," and Mrs. E. L. Vincent told of "Peonies to be Planted." A seed exchange was of further interest. During the social hour following, the hostess served dainty refreshments, aided by her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Brown.

The October meeting will take place on the 15th the hostess to be determined.

1914 BOOK CLUB HAS LUNCHEON DOWNTOWN

Members of the 1914 Book club enjoyed luncheon in a tearoom downtown Friday at 1 o'clock. Retiring officers were the hostesses, Mrs. W. G. Eckles, Mrs. W. M. Eckles, Mrs. W. P. Felch and Mrs. John Foster.

After partaking of a daintily appointed and most appetizing menu, the group discussed new books which they will read this season, and visited. The next meeting will take place in New Wilmington in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Thomas L. Ashcom.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Section E

Mrs. James Fox, of Superior street, extended hospitality to members of Section E of the Third United Presbyterian Y. L. B. class on Friday evening.

Mrs. John Boston, the president, presided over the business session, and the hostess led the devotions. Fancy work and chat interested the group in the later evening. Cut flowers through the home lent beauty to the occasion.

In serving an appetizing lunch the hostess was assisted by her daughter, Margaret. The next regular meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Margaret Hammond, Superior street.

Open Door Class

The Open Door class of the Third United Presbyterian church had its monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Ann McConnell, 1219 Huron avenue, on Friday. A delightful evening it proved for everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marker, of New Castle, and Mrs. Belinda Blue, of Edenburg, were special guests.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Marker, servied a delicious lunch.

Ladies Chorus

Queen Esther Society

On a recent night the Nancy Reynolds Queen Esther society of Epworth M. E. church had a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. Florence Rodgers, 204 South Ray street. The meeting was called together by the president, Mildred Lusk, and Leona Sankey led the devotions.

A short talk was given by Elizabeth McFarland on "Schools and Missions." Mrs. Edwards gave a review of the study book. Plans were made for a Hallowe'en party on October 14.

Miss Reita Edwards was taken in as a new member. At a late hour a delicious repast was served by the hostess and her assistants, Miss Pollyne Parker and Miss Ruth Galbraith.

Fuller Circle

Fuller Missionary Circle of the Croton M. E. church will meet Monday evening at the home of Miss Leona Nolan, Cascade street, instead of the home of Mrs. Crowe, as had been formerly planned.

St. Paul's Baptist

The Women's Missionary society of St. Paul's Baptist church will meet at 10 a. m., Monday at the church, Estelle Campbell, president.

Section G

Mrs. Mary Clark, of the Butler road, entertained Section G of the Third United Presbyterian church at her home Friday evening. The devotional part of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Carrie McClane.

Readings were given by Mrs. Sadie Richardson, to the appreciation of the group, and a question box was conducted by Mrs. Carrie Hemminger.

Mrs. Marie Richardson, of Alhambra, California, was a special guest of the occasion.

Mrs. Clark served a dainty repast, assisted by Mrs. Fannie Shirey. The next meeting is to be at Mrs. Shirey's home, on the Butler road.

BREATHING SPELL?

ONE of the principal topics of political conversation and debate continues to be the public and economic effects of the recent exchange of letters between the president and Roy Howard, head of the United Press, in which the chief executive has written that most of his program has been enacted and business may now have a "breathing spell."

The opinion on the soundness and effectiveness of the letter continues, very naturally, to be divided along political lines.

Supporters of the administration continue to hail it with satisfaction on the theory that the letter of the president has restored confidence and is a signal for business to go ahead. They predict that everything will be much improved throughout the country in an economic way by next year.

Critics of the administration take an opposite view. They point out that the promise to give business a breathing spell will not restore confidence because nobody is yet convinced as to what it means. They add that promises were made in 1932 to balance the budget, maintain the gold standard, cut the public payroll and trim bureaucracy. These promises, they continue, have not exactly been carried out and it remains to be seen what will really be done toward giving business a breathing spell.

Other critics declare that the use of the words "breathing spell" was bad political strategy. They take the view that the employment of these words indicates that the administration has been pummeling business, and admits it now needs a rest. It is pointed out that a prize fighter only gets a breathing spell between rounds, after he has been pounded by an adversary. And he may expect to get more pummeling at the sound of the bell when the breathing spell is over. Now there has never been any public admission on the part of the directors of the New Deal that it has been throttling business. Yet the indication that business is to be granted a breathing spell might seem to indicate that there has been some punishment in the past and more can be anticipated in the future. Such, in substance, is the view taken by many of the critics of the so-called "breathing spell" for business theory.

Many students of economics have pointed out that business seemed to get better in the United States almost immediately after the Supreme Court invalidated the NRA. Whether or not this was a coincidence, it has led some of the aforesaid students to claim that it was the U. S. Supreme Court which gave business its first breathing spell, and that more beneficial breathing spells may be anticipated this winter from the same source.

Be that as it may, any breathing spell which business is now to get is purely tentative. Congress meets again in January. There will be all sorts of demands from all sorts of interests, for government aid to this, that and the other project. All of which may tend to make American business a little groggy again. Only the future can tell.

UP TO MOTORISTS

Dr. Miller McClintock, of Harvard University, is America's leading traffic expert. Motorists should take heed, therefore, when he remarks that unless "a constructive and rational solution is found for the traffic problem, the motor vehicle ultimately will be placed under restrictions definitely limiting the freedom of those using it."

The final responsibility inevitably rests upon the man behind the wheel. If he lacks common sense, decent regard for the rights of others, physical fitness and a knowledge of the regulatory code as well as an adequate control of the machine he is driving, there is little chance of converting him into a highway safety factor.

REASONABLE TRADE

One of the losses which business people have to take, comes through the habit of returning goods to stores. People will wear things, and then expect stores to take them back. Even if they are brought back at once, it costs something to carry on the transaction, and the store should be claim is a reasonable one. Merchants of course win favor when they compensated for that loss.

Before you take anything back to a store, ask yourself if your are liberal in such matters and give people a chance to examine goods in their homes. But they should not be asked to go to added expense because people made errors in judgment, or if they are forced to go to such expense, people should expect to compensate them for it.

MUSSOLINI'S DUBIOUS WAR-FINANCING

Not the least puzzling aspect of Mussolini's mad venture is the source of funds for a costly war, remarks the Philadelphia Inquirer, when Italy is already burdened with a tremendous debt and is considered such a poor financial risk that she cannot obtain loans in London or New York and must pay cash for goods in foreign markets.

Reducing the coverage of the lira for the release of gold for purchases abroad, together with other stringent measures, indicates a state of impoverishment ordinarily reached after nations have been at war for a considerable period.

Now the economic tweezers are to be squeezed tighter and the Italian people, already painfully aware of the cost, will be worse pinched than before. On Wednesday the cabinet approved financial measures to replenish the war chest. These involve new loans of an unannounced but presumably large sum, bearing a high rate of interest to make them attractive, plugging the holes of escape from income tax payments, still further lowering the limit on tax-exempt incomes, placing new taxes on transportation of goods and on business turnover and decreasing and consolidating the war pensions.

If Italy's serious economic condition and the sad state of her finances, obtaining even before the tremendous drain of war preparations, indicates a driving motive for Mussolini's purpose to seize Ethiopian resources, it also raises the question of Italy's ability either to defy the League successfully or wage a prolonged campaign in East Africa, without courting ruinous inflation and internal disruption that would seriously threaten his regime.

Our Own War.
Underestimating Mussolini.
No Desert Collector.
Palaces And The Bank.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

ONE WAR, not in Africa, interests this country violently. Each newspaper man gets hundreds of requests from important Americans who want seats at fifty dollars or more each, to see that war.

Already, $600,000 have been paid for tickets to see the fight between Max Baer, once heavyweight champion, and Joe Louis, a young colored man who has never been beaten since he turned professional, and considers it altogether impossible that he should be beaten now.

MR. DAN PARKER, who knows more about prize fights and thinks less of them and their managers than anybody else, believes that this fight will "draw" about one million dollars, possibly more. The colored youth, Joe Louis, barely out of his teens, will win in Mr. Parker's opinion by a "knockout-out," although it may take him five or six rounds, since "Max Baer is a fighter, and still a strong man."

ENGLAND, FRANCE AND ETHIOPIA appear to underestimate Mussolini's intelligence, and overestimate his patience. They offer him two slices of Ethiopian territory, Danakil and Ogaden.

Mussolini remarks: "They must think I am a collector of deserts," and thinks they have mistaken him for the man in Mark Twain's book who bought two mountains because they had fine echoes and built a house between them.

ACCORDING to Mussolin both territories offered to him are deserts. Danakil, entirely covered with salt, is the bed of a dried up sea, 800 feet below sea level. Not even a blade of grass grows there.

Ogaden is a desert of stone. Mussolini says he got 110,000 square miles of Sahara desert from the French a little while ago. "You

EVERY MAN LOOKS FOR BEAUTY

Every man is looking for beauty. Whether he finds it or whether it eludes him forever, depends entirely on the searching powers of his own soul.

I do not mean that he is looking only for the shapely, the desirable in form, for the beauty that comes in feminine guise. . . . This any man may see and admire, although he may not always possess. . . . And nearly every day I see the face of some lovely lady in the paper, and she is complaining there that a man who said he loved her was wearied of her charms and has slammed the door as he walked out.

Nor do I mean that he searches the fields for the perfect flower. . . Nor that he climbs to every mountain top and ecstasizes over the glory that extends below him. . . . Nor that he walks the beaches and admires the pretty pebbles. . . . He may adore the lovely, lady, seek the perfect scene, praise the shining jewel and call these beauty—but in his heart he is seeking other and more enduring perfection. Something else, something stronger drives him on.

He is striving always for an adjustment between his own spirit and all life around him. . . . And when he finds this, he knows that it is his and has found his happiness. . . . He seeks it in perfect relationship with his fellows, with men and women and children, with fellow workmen, with those the world so loosely terms his "inferiors" and his "superiors". He seeks in animals, in growing things, in the adjustment and regulation of all his days and nights. . . . He wants his life to be consistent and homogenous. He strives for Oneness throughout his whole life, strives for peace that is neither sad renunciation nor mean surrender. . . . .And when he finds this he has found the greatest beauty.

And if he gives up this search he abandons all hope of peace and happiness. He is a failure.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LONELY VIGILS

Somewhere between Ketchikan Alaska, and Prince William's Sound on Berling Sea, the United States lighthouse tender, "Cedar" is now steaming along with provisions for the three relief men for the three most isolated lighthouses under Uncle Sam's jurisdiction.

The three lights are located on Scotch Cape, Cape Sarachif, and Cape Hinchinbrook at the entrance of Prince William Sound.

The ship carries a year's supply of food, clothing, medicine, books, kerosene and other needs. The three extra men will relieve three who have been on duty at the lighthouse since 1933. The trio released will have a year's vacation returning next summer to relieve three others. There are three men at each station.

In years past, their wives used to accompany them, but danger of illness and homesickness make it advisable to leave them behind.

Coming of the radio was a blessing to these lonely lighthouse keepers. Powerful receiving sets make it possible to bring in the programs of most of the high powered breadcasting stations in the western half of the United States and Canada.

In politics one of the things you can surely expect is that sooner or later you will get it, so being a good loser goes along with politics.

"Well," they asked him, "what do you think of it?"

"I've got an aunt in Red Gulch," said the cowboy "who can knit better pictures than these."

Some of these days, if we are not mistaken some nation in Europe will take a false step and the war will be on and after it is all over no one will be able to tell why there was a war.

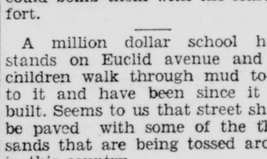

How long is one going to tell when we reach the end of the depression unless somebody calls out the stations.

A lady in California who was sentenced to be hung for killing her second husband was saved from the gallows by her first husband who is a lawyer. That surely shows a good spirit on the part of the first husband.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Dr. Ernest Minor Paterson, University of Pennsylvania professor, speaking on the unreliability of rumors, told his audience about Mary.

"Mary was an amiable maiden", he said, "of good family and ample financial background, but she seemed to have no appeal for men. At last the report spread that her old friend, John, had proposed.

"Mary", said another girl, "tell me about your engagement."

"What engagement?" asked Mary.

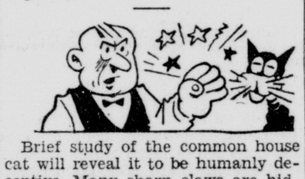

"Why", her friend said, "we hear John has proposed, that you are engaged and going to be married."

Mary shook her head.

"No", she replied. "He didn't propose. We aren't engaged. We're not going to get married. But thanks for the rumor."

WORRY GOES TO WASTE

A business man has the following framed and suspended over his desk:

"Oh! I worry over this thing and I worry over that,
But I find that when the atmosphere has cleared
The bad luck that I looked for did not come and knock me flat,
And I didn't have the trouble
that I feared.

Oh, I love to wake up in the morning with an appreciative sigh,
For I find a bit of worry to my taste.
But I cannot keep from thinking,
as the years go rolling by,
That an awful lot of worry goes to waste."

JUST A HINT IF YOU CARE TO PRINT

What kind of a rule would you use (kind sir;)
If you started to measure a friend.
Would you use for a rule an adamant (will;)
Or one that would yield and bend?
Would you measure your friend—
with the kind of a rod,
That on your own life you would weild.
Would you shelter that friend in the heart of your love
And from viscious gossipers shield.
Would you measure that friend with
—the old golden rule
And ne'er be content with another?
Tho, aged he may be and crippled and poor,
Would you measure him still—as you brother?
Tho, he may not be perfect and have—many faults
As most of us poor mortals do.
As you measure him brother with—
that kind of rule,
The Lord will be measuring you.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

There are some who, through nervousness, self-consciousness or lack of poise, intersperse their conversation with sudden outbursts of laughter, which they frequently inflict upon their listeners after almost every sentence they utter.

This is one of those bad habits about which even your best friends won't tell you.

It frequently results from an inferiority complex and indicates a lack of confidence in your conversational abilities. So watch yourself closely and see if you have this annoying habit which will undoubtedly spoil any clever remark you might make.

Express your thoughts clearly and with self-possession allowing your listeners to judge their witty merits. Remember that a smile may carry you a long, long way, but a laugh at the wrong time will damage your prestige.

The World At A Glance

President Faces West.
Storm Clouds Gathering.
Confronted By Problems.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt will start out on his western trip not under the peace of a "breathing spell", but with a storm threatening to break. And it is not a political storm, although it may have political repercussions later.

Beyond the sunshine of improving business lie lowering clouds.

Why the clouds?

One-fifth of the population still is existing on less than subsistence levels.

In addition, there is a growing resistance on the part of labor and a large part of the farm population to conditions as they are—in spite of soothing words.

And the war situation overseas requires the most delicate handling to preserve American neutrality.

"SHARE-THE-WEALTHERS"

There is every indication that the agricultural groups will demand a larger and larger share of the national income.

The Huey Long "Share Our Wealth" movement was as nothing to the inflationist and pension groups of the west.

Huey Long had no tangible plan that could be "put across". Nor had he a true conception of social progress. A man with an inferiority complex, due to his farm days when he was looked down upon, he sought, when power came, to take part of what the rich had for "poor white trash".

That would not hold water economically, would bring no relief and would bring no democracy. (Huey's efforts resulted in his home state in the very antithesis of democracy.)

As long, however, as the "Kingfish" was alive, the schemes of the west were overshadowed because they lacked spectacular leadership.

But now, the ground swell begins once more. Why not cheapen money and thus discharge our debts? Why not make higher plices "permanent"? Why not provide pensions for all the needy? That would give everybody money with which to buy. Those are the arguments.

And behind the movement to force Senator William E. Borah of Idaho on the Republican party is the inflationist group. Eastern writers term Borah "a windbag, with no knowledge of economies". But western farmers and California pension groups ask: "Well, what kind of economics has the east given us all these years?"

It is a question that is difficult to answer, for the economics of the manufacturing east have been as indefensible as the theories of the west. If the supreme court declares the AAA unconstitutional no one can say how far the farm revolt would lead and what other interests would join in with it.

LABOR

Then, there is labor—and unemployed labor.

Labor is beginning to turn on the American Federation of Labor. It believes the regime of President William Green has been naive and inept.

Rubber workers rejected an A. F. of L. leader, and automobile workers tried to do the same, but Green seized control by a coup d'etat.

The fact of the matter is, organized labor is fighting for its life. Employers, having virtually a free hand now under court decisions, are trying to rid themselves of this "pest".

The Wagner labor disputes law is found to mean nothing much.

Thus, whenever one opens a paper, he reads of lockouts and strikes, and clashes.

If the government closes its eyes to such strife, and declares everything is fine, and points to increasing earnings, it merely is storing up trouble for itself.

PUBLIC WORKS?

Nor is labor or the public in general satisfied with President Roosevelt's "settlement" of the work relief dispute.

Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins is given a clear field to disburse millions for non-productive work—nothing less than a dole, with, however, none of the systematization of a dole.

The public works' projects of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes are to go by the board. Hundreds of communities which had prepared plans, even had voted bonds for their share, are disappointed.

But neither plan faces realities. The alternative — as President Roosevelt knows—would be putting all the idle to work to produce what they require and would readily consume.

The choice may not be which system of dole we shall have, but whether we shall have co-operative production or destruction.

That electricity was first used in lighting homes.

Michael Faraday whose natal anniversary this is, introduced the use of magneto-electric lights in lighthouses before Edison developed an electric lamp for homes.

That the United States has never had a President born a foreign subject.

It has!

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

OF SUCH STUFF IS MEMORY

Memories are made of these:
Little words the babies say:
Games, which now and then we play;
Grandpas and their manners quaint..
China, grandma used to paint;
Grace which mother always said,
Thankful for our daily bread.
These the memory will hold
To be joyously re-told.

Memories are made of these:
Days when skies were overcast;
Strange adventures of the past;
Difficulties met somehow.
Tragic then, but comic now;
All the curious mistakes
Everybody living makes.
These the big things after all
That we tenderly re-call.

Memories are made of these:
Small mishaps from year to year;
Little whims of someone dear;
Tunes that someone used to play,
Now forever gone away;
Favorite jokes, the father told,
Young today, but then so old!
These when time has cast its spell
We shall joyously re-tell.

Bible Thought For Today

The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble.—Proverbs 4:19.

Correctly Speaking—

"Contemplate" should not be combined with a preposition. Say "He contemplated a trip to Alaska", not "He contemplated on a trip to Alaska".

Words of Wisdom

The cultivation of the mind is a kind of food supplied for the soul of man.—Cicero.

Professor in High Mathematics—Give an example of an imaginary spheroid.

Student—A rooster's egg.

New Series At Pentecostal To Start Tomorrow

Rev. Boston Turner Will Commence New Group Of Special Addresses

A new series of sermons which promises to be of intense interest will be started at the First Pentecostal church, corner of Pearson and Epworth streets, Sunday evening, and will be continued over a period of five or six weeks.

The series will deal with the apostate religions of the 20th century. Questions often perplexing to many earnest seekers after truth will be brought forward in these addresses by Rev. Boston Turner, pastor of the church.

Tomorrow night's sermon will be on the subject, "Can the Living Communicate With the Dead?"

Much interest was shown in another series of sermons just recently completed by Rev. Turner. The church was filled at each service.

Topics of the sermons will be revealed each Saturday in the church's regular Sunday service announcement on The News church page.

Erie Conference Is Nearing Close

All Of Local Methodist Episcopal Pastors Attend Ridgeway Sessions

More than 350 clergymen and laymen are in attendance at the 100th session of the Methodist Episcopal Erie conference as it draws near a close at Ridgeway, Pa.

Daily sessions have been conducted since last Wednesday morning and will continue through Sunday, and quite likely into Monday. The four districts comprising the conference are Brookville, Grove City, Meadville and Jamestown, N. Y.

All of New Castle's Methodist Episcopal pastors are there, as well as a number of laymen and women's society members. Consequently some of the local churches have eliminated their preaching services on Sunday entirely.

First Methodist Omits Preaching Services Sunday

The Sunday morning and evening preaching services are being omitted this week at the First Methodist church, North Jefferson and North streets, Norris A. White, D. D., pastor, on account of the Erie annual conference now in session at Ridgway, Pa., requiring the attendance of the pastor at the same. The church school and the Epworth League, however, will meet at their usual hours. The Epworth League program will be the second in a series of studies on "Christian Stewardship", presented by Miss Wolverton, the deaconess.

Lay Sermon At Central Church

Central Presbyterian church is to have an unusual speaker and message Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. S. W. McGinness, a prominent attorney of Pittsburgh will deliver a lay sermon on the subject, "The Cross-Fitchee". It is a new idea, a fresh interpretation of the greatest symbol of Christendom. This unique message has been given in a number of churches and before ministerial associations and has been received with the greatest enthusiasm and profit.

Mr. McGinness is representing no special cause, raising no funds but in full religious devotion is presenting this new and rich conception of the old rugged cross.

He is a personal friend of the pastor, Dr. C. B. Wingerd, who will preside at the service and entertain him while in the city.

Missionary Day At St. Luke's Church

Foreign Missionary Day will be observed at St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church Sunday.

This is a connectional day and the entire Zion connection will have a uniform service.

At 11 a. m., Mrs. L. B. Williams, local president of the W. H. & F. M. society will serve as mistress of cermonies. The pastor will preach a special missionary sermon.

At 7:30 p. m., the Buds of Promise and the Young Women's society will render a suitable program with Mrs. Blanche Dillard and Mrs. Mary Meeks in charge.

Ingathering Of Harvest Service At Shenango U. P.

The ingathering of the harvest will be observed in the Shenango U. P. church on Sunday.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. M. McMains, and the music by the choir will be in keeping with the theme of the day

Welsh Lodge To Meet Tonight At Emmanuel Church

Star Of Wales Lodge Will Meet; Other Local Notes By Brython

(By WILLIAM A. JOHNS)
Brython

Members of the Star of Wales Lodge No. 60, True Ivorites of America, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Emmanuel Baptist church on Reynolds street. Thomas Grey, the president, will be in charge.

The sick committee's report will be submitted. Two members of the lodge, Thomas Perrott and Evan W. Wilkins, are ill at the present time.

Brython has been presented with a beautiful book by his old friend, Alderman Edward Harris, ex-mayor of Swansea, South Wales. The book was composed when Mr. Harris was mayor and gives the account of his labor and activities and the erection of the new guild hall at Swansea.

Miss Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of Evan Lewis, of Waldo street, will sail, with her father, today for Swansea, South Wales, where she will take up her studies for the ministry at the Bible college of Wales under the directorship of Rev. Rees Howells, a great friend of the family and a former resident of New Castle. Rev. Howell's worked in the same mill as the Brython at the Shenango Tin Plate Works here. He went back to Wales and entered the Gospel work, forming this college 13 years ago. He is going to give the education free to Miss Lewis for a term of three years. She will make her home at the college with Rev. Howells and his wife and family.

Llewellyn Thomas, of South Mercer street, is home after spending a vacation with his son, David J. Thomas, and family, Pittsburgh. While there he called on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams who are back from California.

A sacred concert was conducted at the Emmanuel Baptist church last Sunday evening. Solos were given by Miss Elleen Jones and William Richards, and a speech was given by Griffith Phillips, superintendent of the Sunday school. Miss Ann Mae Jones served as pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinley Hughes, of Cunningham avenue, have just returned from a visit in Toronto, Canada, with friends.

Miss Vivian Jones, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips, of East Reynolds street, has returned to Buffalo, N. Y., to take up her duties as a nurse, after a vacation in New Castle.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. September 20, two arrests on a charge of drunkenness 2.

Plans are being made for a civil service examination for policemen and it is expected that the tests will be held late this month or early in October. A list of eligibles was requested sometime ago. It is also believed that the director of safety also will request a list of eligibles for the fire department, owing to the state law which requires that all employes of the fire and police departments receive one day off each month. There are available now six firemen but seven will be required, according to reports to permit the day off for each fireman. They will receive this rest day in January. However, the police already have adopted the new system and probabilities are that some new policemen will be employed next year. The certainty of this however, depends upon the attitude of the incoming mayor.

Probabilities are that when council convenes informally in December to compile the budget for 1936, the men who are named in November will be asked to help prepare the appropriations. It will be them who will have to help carry the responsibilities of the city. All the present members were asked to help prepare the budget after they assumed office.

King's Chapel Will Celebrate

Committees Are Named For Homecoming Day During Month Of October

PIONEER CHURCH OF METHODISTS

Plans are now going forward at King's Chapel M. E. church on the Pulaski road for their homecoming day, which will be observed on Sunday, October 6. Rev. Earl J. Jennings is pastor of the congregation, which is the pioneer Methodist church in the district and the mother church of New Castle Methodism.

Last October, the 130th anniversary was observed with a three-day series of services. This was enjoyed so much that it was decided to make the event an annual one and call it Homecoming Day.

Committees have been appointed as follows:

General chairman—T. G. Wallace.
Music director—D. B. Reynolds.
Secretary—Jane Heckathorn.
Reception committee—Mrs. C. A. Moore, Mrs. Frank Chapin, Miss Sara Wallace, Mrs. Frank Neal, Mrs. E. G. Robinson, Mrs. Ed Mitchell, Mrs. Nell Simonton and Mrs. Olive Thompson.
Advertising committee—Ralph McFarland, John Henley, Albert Chapin and Mary E. Haines.
Historian—Mrs. A. T. Eckles.
Decortaing committee—Mrs. William Pinkerton, Mrs. Fred Green, Mrs. Leo Michaels, Mrs. Ed Reynolds.
Registration committee—Dorothy Cover and Elizabeth Humble.
Parking committee—George Heckathorn and Fred Green.
Ushers—Wilson Grim, Bill Headings and Jack Pinkerton.

The program will be announced later. Services are planned for morning, afternoon and evening. All former members and friends are invited to attend and bring their lunches. Coffee will be served free.

REV. McPHERSON TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Rev. William McPherson, pastor of the Bethel A. M. E. church, will go on Wednesday morning to Pittsburgh where he will attend the Pittsburgh annual conference in the Bethel A. M. E. church on Wylie avenue.

Others of New Castle who will attend are Mrs. William McPherson, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Clark, Rev. J. H. Dixon and Rev. J. A. Lotterbery.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock Rev. McPherson will deliver a sermon in his church which will mark the close of a four years' pastorate.

Young People Have World Tour

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hazen of Riverview, which represented Mexico, was the first stop of a world-tour held last evening by members of the Young People's society of the Providence Baptist church of North Sewickley with ninety members and friends participating.

Here the group were served the famous Mexican chili and the program was an imitation bull fight.

The next stop was France at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Syphrit at Rockdale. A style show interspered with vocal selections and the serving of French pastries was the entertainment at this time.

The motor caravan then proceeded to Japan, which was the E. L. Hazen home on Country Club drive. The home was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and the girls serving tea were gaily bedecked in vari-colored Japanese kimonas.

Hawaii, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Householder in North Sewickley township, concluded the tour with pineapple being served as the dessert course. The group were favored with Hawaiin guitar selections at this home.

A nice sum of money was realized from this enjoyable affair and it will be used to fulfill the pledge made by the society to the basement fund goal.

Rocco Defeats Tri-State Champ

Wins Unaminous Decision In Main Bout Of Youngstown Fight Show

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—George Rocco's flying fists placed him another niche nearer the hall of fame last night when he won a unaminous decision over Gene Spahr, tri-state champion, in a fight show at Idora Park, Youngstown, O.

The local star amateur pugilist was impressive in his victory as he battered his opponent all over the ring to carry every round. In the third round Spahr was knocked to the canvass for a count of six. Rocco received a huge ovation upon leaving the ring.

H. K. Society Attends Rally

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—A large percentage of the members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Hickory Knell Church of God attended the quarterly rally of the C. E. societies of the western eldership of that church held last evening at the New Brighton church.

Rev. Arnold Berg, pastor of the local church was the principal speaker and his most interesting address was based on the subject, Christian Youth in God's Plan.

The Butler society was awarded the attendance banner. A get-together period was concluded by the serving of an appetizing luncheon by the host church. The next rally will be held the second Friday of December.

Pastime Athletic Club To Meet

Shower Held For Prospective Bride

Miss Sue Cox Victim Of Delightful Surprise Here Last Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—Miss Sue Cox was delightfully surprised last evening when she was invited to a party at the Hostess House on Glenn avenue last evening, and found it to be in her honor.

Upon arriving she was completely taken back when friends came out from hiding places and showered her with gifts in honor of her approaching marriage to Attorney Harold Kauffman of Conneaut, O., which will be an event of Oct. 9. At first she was slightly bewildered by a large beautifully colored umbrella in the center of the living room, but its purpose soon became apparent when a group of friends came out from beneath.

The affair had been cleverly arranged by her sister, Mrs. Harry Bauder of New Castle, Mrs. Dale Leiper of Johnstown, Pa., and Miss Irma Irwin of this city. An attractive pink and white color scheme prevailed on the occasion.

Six tables of bridge were enjoyed during the evening. Prizes at the conclusion went to Mrs. Berlin Smith, Miss Dolly Clyde and Miss Marie McDeavitt. Dainty refreshments were then served.

Those present on the occasion were the Mesdames Ed Wish of New Castle, Pauline Schramm of Rochester, Charles Turner, William Kennedy, C. C. Cox, Harry Latimer, Berlin Smith, David Jones, Jr., Ernest Hensley, Judd Liebendorfer, Oscar Dahl, Clytus Steinberger, Ray Conner and Wes Martin of this city and William Bohlander of Beaver, the Misses Jean Bost, Jerry Turner, Irene Ross, Dolly Clyde, Margaret Clyde, Faye Irwin, Marie McDeavitt, Marjorie Liebendorfer, the honor guest and the hostesses

Miss Randolph Funeral Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—Funeral services for Miss Emma Randolph, 79, who died on Friday mornin, will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock (D. S. T.) from the U. P. church. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Minteer, will officiate. Interment will be made in Mahoning cemetery.

M. C. B. CLUB HAS MEETING FRIDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Sharp Jackson of the Country Club road entertained members of the M. C. B. club at her home last night. Two special guests, Mrs. Jay Buquo and Mrs. Clifford McDanel, were present.

For the three tables of bridge in play, Mrs. Clara Mickley and Mrs. McDanel won prizes. Lunch was later served. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs, Mickley at her home on Spring avenue.

CLASS NO. 17

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—Class No. 17 of the First Baptist church was delightfully entertained last evening by Miss Bonnie Williams at her cottage at the old airport. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bowles, Rev. and Mrs. B. G. Osterhouse and Miss Daisy Cooper were special guests on the occasion. Miss Cooper is home for a visit from the Cresson Sanitorium. A delicious supper was enjoyed outdoors. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed in a general social manner.

Foot Is Crushed Under B. & O. Train

Man Is Injured While Attempting To Cross Track Under Train

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—James Reeser, of this city, may lose his foot as a result of an accident about 5:30 Friday evening, when he attempted to get across the B. & O. railroad by crawling under a box car, just as the train started to move.

According to eye witnesses Reeser had been waiting several minutes for the train to pass the spot where he was waiting to get across. This was just about 200 feet from the Fourth street railroad crossing. Arthur Toth, of Lawrence avenue, one of the eye witnesses, stated that Reeser finally lost patience and attempted to get across by crawling between the cars and underneath.

Just as the train started to move he slipped and fell with one foot remaining on the railroad track. One-half of his foot above the toes was cut off before the train was signalled to stop by Toth. With the assistance of the brakeman he extricated the injured man from beneath the cars.

Reeser was immediately rushed to the local hospital where he was treated. Later he was taken to the Providence hospital in New Brighton so as to be near relatives. He is the father-in-law of Fred Shanor, Beaver Falls policeman.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

(Copyright, 1935, Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Small Tales: Mr. Lee Posner, who used to be a missionary from Harlem and to the hedonist heathens of Manhattan, and who is now in the wood-working business—less romantic, he says but productive of a steadier income—relates an experience during a recent journey by bus to Fallsburg, New York.

At Monticello, N. Y., he dismounted from the highway mammoth and found an impressive limousine with chauffeur waiting to haul him to his final destination. The conveyance provided by the bus line was so grand that he cast about him, curiously, once settled inside for his ride.

There were the usual deluxe gadgets, such as cigarette lighter, vanity box and ash trays. Each bore the large monogram, "J. J. W." The driver revealed that these were the initials of James J. Walker, former Mayor of the city of New York—that this was, indeed, his "party" car.

A further inspection disclosed several built-in and semi-secret compartments, for cigars, liquor and other necessities of a lionized politico. The liquor compartment, which included a rack for His Honor's favorite brand of champagne in the days when beverage quality was undependable was used now to store small hand baggage.

Sic transit, etc.

Incidentally, this car should not be confused with the large foreign limousine once owned by Walker and recently surrendered to an uptown auto finance company by a high-flying Harlem blackamoor because the regular payments, what with one thing and another, could not be maintained.

Nils Granlund, professor of merriment at the Paradise and radio promoter of chorus gal talent, surveyed his world from a darkling back table the other night and remarked with feeling:

"Look. See that little blond chap? I held him in my arms when he was five weeks old!"

My eyes followed N. T. G.'s sentimental glance and descried none other than Neil Whitney, which is the name the handsome stripling son of Evan Burroughs Fontaine bears. Evan, you will recall, was a glorified footlight nymph of a decade and a half ago, who engrossed Broadway and scandalized the sassiety set by claiming her newborn son was the child, beneath the rose, of "Sonny" Whitney, as blueblooded and gilded a playboy as ever slipped a headwaiter a sawbuck.

Evan sat beside the lad at the ringside. She is a handsome woman and is now the wife, I understand, of a Pennsylvania amusement czar. Later the boy approached Granny with a charming shyness and confessed that a little girl of the ensemble had taken his eye, and might it be arranged that he should dance with her?

The lass, who is 16 and goes under the name of Elmira, was glad to oblige; and the innocent little mazurka followed. I am told that Neil's tastes are decorous, that he has been educated in the best schools and that he is liked by all who know him.

Once upon a time stage villains sneered at the proprieties and verities while audiences hissed. Once upon a time a character who came out, clearly, for marriage, the home, property and honor, would have evoked an audience tremor of approval.

All that is changed, it would appear. The other night at a so-so play called "The Night of January 16," which is a bumptious mystery melodrama in a courtroom, a banker mounts the stand to thump for the old cornerstore of sober society.

His being a banker apparently alienated half the audience at the start, and when he professed love of his daughter and of his home and property in no uncertain terms, indignation was rife. The sympathetic roles of the play were taken by a girl atheist who was no better than she should have been by her own confession and was on trial for murder; and by a glamorous gangster who wisecracked judge and jury while virtually admitting another murder.

These latter characters so enthralled the spectators that a jury selected from the audience promptly brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Dr. and Mrs. William J. Cromie, of Philadelphia, have returned home after a visit with M. T. Cromie, Sumner avenue. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Hugh Cromie, who will spend several days with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Keil.

Mrs. D. N. Richwine and daughter Edith, and Daisy Bendall of Richmond, Va., have returned home after a short visit with their niece, Mrs. Howard S. Snyder, East Clayton street. They were enroute home from Huntingdon, Ind., where they had visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Fulton, former well known seventh ward residents. They found the condition of Mr. Fulton, who was injured in an accident early in the week as well as could be expected.

McKean Voters Honor Scott, County Native

Orvel S. Scott Chosen Republican Nominee For Commissioner

Orvel S. Scott, a native of Lawrence county, will be one of the Republican nominees for county commissioner of McKean county, it was learned here today. Scott, a resident of Kane, was nominated with Andy Anderson of Port Allegany.

Scott's early lead was almost 1,000 but Anderson was not declared the winner until late Wednesday afternoon.

Scott was born at Harlansburg on January 9, 1890, the son of Seymour and Margaret Nelson Scott.

Book Of Job Is Again Presented

Ministerial Cast Concludes Scriptural Reading Last Evening

Before another large audience, the concluding presentation of the Book of Job was given last evening in the Cathedral by a group of the city's leading ministers, aided by additional dramatic talent under the auspices of the Valley of New Castle Consistory.

Those who attended were given a clearer conception of the character of Job, one of the famous men of the Bible.

The production was the first of a series of entertainments which are planned for Consistory members and the public during the coming season.

Maybe the dumb and wicked shouldn't have a vote, but what of the nice smart people who vote for the same man?

A. Darrell Burke Funeral Home Announces New Modern Business Methods . . .

A. DARRELL BURKE

MR. BURKE SAYS:

I wish to announce to the people of the city and county that for the past fourteen months I have made a study of Funeral Prices and after interviewing hundreds of people and clergymen, have decided on a new different method of pricing our funerals. There will be a very noted reduction in prices, as we will strive for volume with a very low margin of profit. We will carry our regular line of caskets which will represent the finest casket manufacturers. I am picturing here several caskets to give to you the idea of what I am doing. And will furnish a casket to meet any request. There will be no special priced funerals—every funeral will be as described and will range for complete funeral as listed. And I invite comparison. My equipment from our Funeral Home to the most minor equipment is and will be kept up to the finest standards, and if you are told different by any person I only ask the opportunity to let you investigate and you be the judge. I operate the most modern and sanitary ambulance in the county. Local and long distance calls at reasonable rates. I will make arrangements for funerals anywhere, and prices here quoted are any where in Lawrence County.

COMPLETE FUNERAL SERVICE

PRICED AS LOW AS $100.00

Complete Funeral Service Consists of—

Removal of body. Embalming. Casket. Outside case. Cumforter. Door crepe. Casket coach. 2 cars. Electrical equipment. Chairs, equipment and services. Lining of grave with green grass. Lowering devise. (Prayer rail and candles where requested.

Other Funeral Service Complete at $150-$225-$250-$325 and up

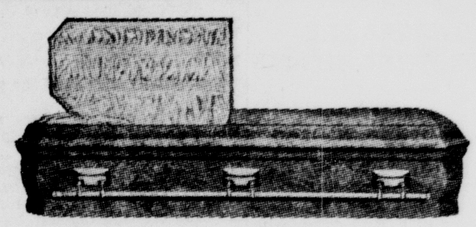

There need be no fear of people thinking I am a cut price funeral director, as that is not my object, it is a new setup and the highest service will be rendered at the most reasonable price.

know how many inhabitants there are in that desolate area? Sixty-two." Not many for 110,000 square miles.

Mussolini wants France, England and the League to understand that he did not send 200,000 Italian soldiers to the borders of Ethiopia just for "an excursion."

MANY WONDER what Mussolini will do if England attempts, by force, to interfere with his plans for Ethiopia. The Italian ruler's plans are doubtless similar to those announced by an important official of the Russian government, in case of war with Japan:

"We know where all Japan's factories are; we have, within four hundred miles, two hours' flight, of Japan's coast, enough airplanes to destroy all Japanese factories in one day. And that is exactly what we should DO."

MUSSOLINI, if forced into war with England, would say, no doubt:

"You English need pay no attention to Ethiopia just now, I propose to keep you busy at home. I know the location of the House of Commons, Bank of England, all royal palaces. My airplanes with explosive bombs and poison gas will pay especial attention to the House of Commons, the Bank of England, the royal residences."

If that were done England might take a different view of the Ethiopian situation.

ENGLAND'S cruiser, "Hood," biggest, most powerful in the world, with its fifteen-inch guns, is now beneath the Rock of Gibraltar, accompanied by the huge 32,000-ton battleship "Renown" that New York saw when it brought the Prince of Wales from England.

For some reason the British Admiralty asked British papers not to mention the fact that those Great British ships were sent to the Mediterranean.

Does England suppose that Mussolini doesn't know where they are? And has she overlooked the fact that, while her surface ship tonnage is two and one half times that of the Italians, Italy's submarine force is far greater than that of England. Also, THE NUMBER of Italian ships, 125, is almost as great as the British number 148, and the smallest Italian fighting ship could disturb British commerce considerably.

LLOYD GEORGE says it is too late to stop Mussolini with "economic sanctions," now that he has 1,000,000 men under arms and "200,000 men within marching distance of the Ethiopian frontiers, with guns, planes, bombers, poison gas, and pyramids of ammunition."

"You cannot appease a hungry tiger with salted boulders," says Lloyd George, referring to worthless lands offered to Mussolini.

England should have known enough not to attempt it.

Lloyd George says:

"We are within a week or a fortnight of war."

AGAIN, wild tribesmen, subjects of the Ethiopian Emperor appear before his palace saying:

"We have come many days' distance. Give us guns, give us bullets. Give us your imperial permission to set upon our enemies."

Italian soldiers are within rifle shot of the North Ethiopian frontier, and the tribesmen, eager to get at them, yell and dance war dances.

The Emperor wants Italy to "fire the first shot," but his tribesmen may arrange it otherwise.

IN TOKIO, Daba Birrou, representing the Ethiopian emperor, makes his obeisance to the Japanese emperor, Hirohito, having previously "bowed in respect before the emperor's gates, and worshipped at several shrines."

The wise Ethiopian said he had come "to promote trade relations between Ethiopia and Japan."

Japan's stock exchange is enjoying a war boom, equaling the "peak days of 1927."

IN LONDON, there is no war boom. British money is weak, British government bonds are down. British finance begins to take its own war scare seriously.

FRANCE FEELS the discomfort that follows war threats. Stock in the bank of France is "nervous," prices dropping, while the Suez Canal, which would stop making money if war came, dropped 34.60 a share.

A LITTLE home news: James A. Reisenhaus is in the Illinois State Hospital for the Insane, his father in charge of his property. Brought to court on habeas corpus proceedings he proved to the judge that while in the insane asylum, and in spite of the depression, since 1930 he has made $75,000, speculating in stocks.

The judge said: "You're not crazy," set him free.

Many stock brokers would tell the judge, "you're wrong, a man MUST have been crazy to speculate in stocks after 1930."

Tenant Farmers Are Out Of Luck

Have Been Overlooked On Payments For Not Raising Crops

LAND OWNERS ARE DRAWING CHECKS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Suppose the case of a land owner who leases his land to someone else to cultivate.

But part of the land must NOT be cultivated.

It must not even be planted, or, if already planted, the growing crop must be plowed under.

The government agrees to pay for what ISN'T produced under this arrangement. But pay whom? The owner?—on whose land the crop isn't produced. Or the tenant?—to whom the crop would belong if it HAD been produced.

A HYPOTHETICAL CASE

Suppose further that the government inadvertently pays the wrong one, whichever he may be?

Is the other one, who OUGHT to have had the money, still entitled to collect it from Uncle Sam, on the ground that it was HIS mistake, and that, having made it, he can't claim to have discharged his obligation?—let him get his cash back from the opposite chap if he can; that isn't the party of the second part's funeral.

Should I carelessly pay the monthly rental on my flat in Washington to the wrong real estate agent, I'll wager that the right agent still would insist on collecting it. And I'll bet he could get it, or a judgment for it, anyway.

TENANTS OVERLOOKED

But a city flat that actually exists and a crop which is valuable only because there is no such crop are different, apparently.

At all events U. S. District Judge John D. Martin of Memphis draws a distinction. It remains to be seen whether or not the federal court of appeals and the U. S. supreme court will uphold him.

The issue arose between certain tenants and share-croppers, on the one hand, and landlords on the contrary hand.

The landlords, arguing that it was their land the crops were not raised on, demanded the government's pay for not raising them, and the government paid them. Belatedly (for their class is not so alert as the landlords') the tenants let out a yell that THEY should have had the subsidy.

Government agents gave them the ha-ha.

POOR PROSPECTS

Accordingly they sued the government.

They haven't a case against Uncle Sam, Judge Martin holds.

He admits that Uncle Samuel may have made some mistakes in signing checks for crops that were plowed under or never planted—tenants probably should have had some of those which were gobbled by landlords.

If so, however, the judge rules, the tenants should sue the landlords; not the government.

Of course the individual tenant hasn't the resources to finance an appeal, but there are organizations of them; their appeal will be heard from in due season—but there will be a long wait, for a poverty-stricken share-cropper to benefit from it, if ever.

There also is an odd legal twist in the government's opposition to an injunction against enforcement of the Guffey coal act.

Coal mining interests sought an injunction to prevent a BEGINNING upon the act's enforcement. They don't want the act's enforcement even to be started. But, reasons Assistant Attorney General John Dickinson, the law, though passed, isn't in effect yet. How do the coal interests know that the government intends to enforce it?

The coal folk seek to prevent what hasn't occurred.

The District of Columbia courts hold that what hasn't occurred can't be prevented. They sustain Assistant Attorney General Dickinson's contention.

New Deal paradoxes!

OUTING FOR CASA SAVOIA IS POSTPONED

It was announced today that the annual Casa Savoia society outing, scheduled for Sunday, has been postponed until a week Sunday.

On Court House Hill

Under the will of the late Carmine Domenick of the seventh ward, which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, Pauline Domenick Cassella is left an un-named amount of money in the bank. Residue of decedent's estate is left to his sons, Antonio, Sulvester and Samuel Domenick.

County commissioners are asking bids for the printing of street lists of voters names which is required under the election laws. Street lists of names are of chief value to politicians. Formerly they had to copy the lists or hire it done, but this was too expensive for them, so they had a law passed putting the burden on the taxpayers. It is one of a thousand or more laws that could very well be repealed.

At the recnt primary New Wilmington borough nominated the following: High constable, Ronald Jones, Republican and C. G. Martin, Democrat; school board, Harold L. Black, Republican and David Means, Democrat council, Howard Temple, John Boyd and Leo Plotts, Republican and George Robinson, James Minner and Howard Temple, Democrat. Judge of Election, James Williamson, Republican and S. M. Dicks, Democrat; Inspector, Walter Shaffer, Republican and A. A. Miller, Democrat.

Registration clerk, Thomas Edmunds, announces that the registration bureau will start on next Monday to register persons for the November election. The registration will be from Monday, Sept. 23, until Saturday, October 5 inclusive. The registration is only for those voters who have not already been registered. The requirements are that the voter shall have lived in a precinct sixty days previous to presenting himself for registration. Those who register on or before October 5 will be entitled to vote at the November election.

Bessemer borough nominated the following persons at the recent primary: constable Archie Shoup, Republican, Joseph J. Percic, Democrat; high constable, Bernard O. Nord, Republican and Democrat; school board, Chester Chaddock, Republican and O. U. Mandich, Democrat; justice of peace, W. H. Booksing and James R. Chaney, Republican, and same on Democratic ticket; council, D. C. McKee, E. B. Manewal and J. E. Scott, Republican, and John Bergless, Jr., W. H. Brown and Tony Vlah, Democrat judge of election, R. R. Throop, Republican and J. Leonard Weaver, Democrat; inspector, Wilbur Stanly, Republican and Tony Glassic, Democrat.

Emerson and Louise Isaac have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Otto Pearsall to recover $20.75 damages to a car in an auto a.i.ent on Highland avenue. Plaintiff's claim that they were driving north back of defendant and that defendant stopped his car suddenly without giving any signal. Plaintiff's car struck defendant's car, causing the damage to plaintiff's car.

Comments around the court house show that the defeat of the proposal to junk our state constitution in favor of some new deal invention is particularly gratifying to Republicans, and many Democrats as well. It is a victory for representative government over dictatorship. It should greatly encourage the people, Democrats as well as Republicans for next year's presidential campaign. It should arm them with a determination to defeat any candidate for the presidency who seeks to overturn the fundamentals of our national Constitution, which has made this country the freest, happiest and most prosperous country in the world. Potatoe, hog, wheat, tobacco and cotton control are but mild forms of despotism and bondage to which the people would be subjected under a revised Constitution. Those who want to live under dictatorships should go to Russia, Germany, Italy, or some other foreign country, where freedom of speech, freedom of the press, the right of assembly and freedom of religion are unknown.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

The largest submarine the U. S. navy had in 1918 was 196 feet long and displaced 488 tons. Eight years later the navy built the V type of submarine, 341 feet in length and with a displacement of 2,164 tons. This type of boat uses as motive power the diesel oil burning engine while running on the surface and electric motors while submerged.

When a bomb is dropped from an airplane flying at an altitude of 5,280 feet or one mile it takes about 19 seconds for it to reach the earth.

Great Britain's new type 15-inch gun can shoot its projectile through 15 inches of armor plate and then travel nine miles farther. These guns are designed for mounting on battleships. The largest guns in the United States navy are 16 inches across the projectile.

The essential element of gas masks is charcoal. It absorbs the gases and prevents them from reaching the wearer of the mask.

During the World war period the U. S. built 2,500 ships of 10 1-4 million tons at a cost of 3½ billions of dollars, but due to hasty construction and obsolete standards these vessels had to be disposed of after the war period.

The first torpedo was invented in 1870 by an Englishman named Whitehead.

Original Whitney Cotton Gin Sought

(International News Service)

WESTBORO, Mass.—Purchase of Eli Whitney's original cotton gin by the state is advocated by the Westboro Historical Society. Victor Despres, owner of the farm on which Whitney was born, borrowed the gin from Luke Burdett, Georgia cotton grower, for an exposition this summer. The gin is valued at $10,000.

REPLIES TO FIGULY

September 20, 1935

Editor New Castle News,

I'm replying to the recent letter of Arnold Figuly which appeared in The News Wednesday, regarding the voting hours. They are made by law from 7 a. m., to 7 p. m., and in a town of this size, everyone should be able to vote in 12 hours. Mr. Figuly also stated the wrong voting place. He should vote in the 4th ward instead of criticizing the election board of the 5th ward, which voted everyone that was present.

Very truly yours,
JOHN MASH,
510 East Lutton street,
Judge election,
First precinct,
Fifth ward.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS BUTLER 21 TO 0

Engs And Cabas Score Touchdowns

Robert "Flash" Engs Races 75 Yards For One Score And 10 For Another

DeCaprio Flips Pass To Cabas For Score, Crowd Of 5,000 At Game

ROBERT "Flash" Engs, the colored speedster stole the show last night at Taggart Stadium as New Castle toppled Butler High 21 to 0 before a crowd estimated at 5,000 fans. Engs raced 75 yards through a broken field for one touchdown and skirted end for 10 yards to score another marker. A pass, DeCaprio to Cabas, accounted for the third touchdown. Despite the score it was a fine game. Butler High sent a hard fighting eleven to New Castle, but they didn't provide enough speed to catch the fleet-footed Engs.

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" rang up victory number two for the season. Things looked real bad for the locals in the first period when a Butler attack carried the ball to the one-yard line, but at this point the New Castle line became tighter than a drum-head and Butler lost the ball on downs on the one-foot line. That was the only scoring threat by Butler in the entire game.

The game started with Butler kicking off to New Castle and after a few plays New Castle man fumbled and Butler recovered on the New Castle 33 yard line. A Butler pass, Novak to Webster was good for 15 yards and a first down on the New Castle 15-yard line. Webster went through for another first down on the New Castle five-yard line. In the next four plays Butler was kept from the goal line. Mumford kicked out of danger.

Engs Races 75 Yards

Four Butler plays failed to gain and New Castle had the ball on down on their own 30-yard line. Robert "Flash" Engs stepped into the limelight at this point in the game with an electrifying run of 75 yards for the first New Castle score. The colored boy was off like a flash and sped zigzagging down the field until he got in the clear and then it was "goodbye boys see you at the goal line." Several of the Butler boys tried to overtake the flying Engs, but soon gave it up. Momford kicked the extra-point making it New Castle 7, Butler 0.

Ross replaced Leith for Butler in the backfield and immediately after the kickoff he became a dangerous threat, ripping off a gain for 15 yards and a first down. Butler lost the ball on downs and New Castle was also held for downs, Mumford kicking to Ross on the New Castle 45-yard line. Leith flipped a pass intended for Novak and Engs intercepted it and ran it back to New Castle 33-yard line for a 22 yard return, just as the first period ended.

Engs Scores Again

New Castle started right in the second period with Leroy Cox tearing off a 18 yard line thrust to the Butler 45 yard line. New Castle drew a 15 yard penalty for holding. Engs ripped off another of his scintillating runs for 22 yards to the Butler 37 yard line. Cox made it first down for New Castle on the Butler 33 yard line. Cox and Engs divided ball carrying duties and picked up a first down on the Butler 23 yard line.

Cox carried the ball on two plays to the Butler 10-yard stripe and at this point young Mister Engs was called upon to skirt the end and he did it very gracefully going over the line for his second marker. Mumford again kicked the extra-point. New Castle 14, Butler 0, at the end of the first half.

Third Period Scoreless

Mumford's kickeoff to start the second half was taken by Ross and returned the ball 18 yards. Three Butler plays failed and Leith kicked to Engs who returned the ball to the New Castle 40 yard line. Cox ripped off a fine gain of 22 yards to the Butler 39-yard line. Engs gained at right tackle. Cox fumbled and the ball was recovered by Patatky of Butler on the Butler 30-yard line.

Ross and Webster combined for Butler to make it a first down on the Butler 49-yard line. Webster flipped a beautiful pass to Ross for 20 yards to the New Castle 28-yard line. Webster lost five yards on a fumble. A pass Webster intended for Ross failed and New Castle took the ball on downs on their own 27-yard line. Near the end of the period after an exchange of punts, Cox made a brilliant 28 yard run through the Butler team and almost got away for a touchdown. There was no scoring in the third period.

Cabas Scores On Pass

The teams battled on rather even ground in the fourth period until the game was just about over and then after New Castle had taken the ball on an exchange of punts Engs carried the ball to the Butler 45 yard line, from which point "Gabby" DeCaprio slipped back and threw a beautiful pass to Johnnie Cabas good for 15 yards and Cabas raced the remaining 20 to the goal line for the third touchdown. It was a well executed pass by the locals and found the Butlerites napping. It was the only pass that New Castle tried all evening and it worked.

There wasn't much time left and coaches Bridenbaugh and Heinzer sent in innumerable subs.

Linemen Good

In the matter of first downs New Castle had the edge by one, making eight to Butler's seven. In punting the New Castle boys had the edge with Dal Mumford getting off some fine kicks, two of them for around 50 yards. Leith of Butler failed to get any of his kicks over the 45 yard mark.

This story would not be complete without mentioning the work of the New Castle linemen. The play was much improved over the opening game and when Butler was knocking at the goal line, the New Castle linemen showed that they had the stuff.

In the Butler lineup the work of Webster, Leith, Ross, Patatky and Youkers stood out quite brilliantly. As said before Butler had a fine team and a credit to the neighboring school. They just couldn't stop that man Engs, and that just about tells the story ladies and gentlemen.

Nice Work Boys!

Petercan Wins At Fair Track

Captures Two Heats Of 2:14 Pace Held Over From Thursday

KINNEY C AND MAC C WIN 2:20 TROT HEATS

Five thousand spectators occupied the grandstand and advantageous positions around the track fence yesterday when the last heats of several races postponed by rain from Thursday were staged. The crowd was the largest in years and they enjoyed every minute of the trotting and pacing.

The fastest time of the afternoon was made by Petercan in the second heat of the 2:14 pace. The bay gelding turned in a mark of 2:09½, which was faster time than Petercan made in winning the first heat Thursday. Dorothy Napoleon gave Petercan keen competion.

At the half in the third heat Petercan was out in front by a length, trailed by Dorothy Napoleon and Paul Neyron. After passing the three-quarters pole Dorothy Napoleon came down on the outside and with a great burst of stamina won by a nose from Petercan. Paul Neyron was not far behind and Duvall won fourth money.

Clara Duffy captured the first heat of the 2:20 trot Thursday but Mac C won the second heat Friday. Clara Duffy was past the judges stand first but she was set back to second because she swung out of position. Mac C was a close second and Kinney C was third. In the third heat Kinney C showed the way to Mac and Clara Duffy. The best time in the trot was 2:12 made Thursday.

There are four races on today's card.

Shenango High Loses 12-0 To Evans City Team

Kauffman Scores Winning Touchdown In Third And Fourth Period

GAME IS FILLED WITH EXCITEMENT

Playing under a cool autumn wind with several hundred frenzied fans looking on, Shenango high school's blue and gold warriors went down to their first defeat of the season Friday afternoon on the Shenango high field. Evans City, with a well balanced team, walked off the gridiron with a 12-0 triumph.

In the first two periods, both teams threatened to score. Shortly after the game got underway the Evans City representatives ran the ball to the 32-yard mark. Kauffman carried the pigskin for a first down. Two successful line bucks by Kauffman and Kinsey moved the ball to the shadow of the goal line. Evans City tried four line plunges and lost the ball. Tanner hit the center of the wall for a first down as the opening quarter ended. Score, Shenango 0, Evans City 0.

The East New Castle gridders came out like lions in the second period. A short pass, Tanner to Irvin netted about five yards. Tanner tossed another pass, this time to Fee, who took it and raced to the 29, where he was nailed. Tanner on the next play knifed his way through right guard for another first down. With the ball on the 19, Shenango attempted two passes and a line plunge and then elected to kick out of danger. Evans City tried two line plunges as the half ended. Score, Shenango 0, Evans City 0.

In the third quarter Kauffman took the kickoff on the 20 and ran it to the 27. Benn tried the line and found it for three yards. On the next play, Kauffman zig zagged his way through left guard and behind perfect interference raced the remaining 70 yards for Evan's City's initial touchdown. It was a pretty run by the elusive Kauffman. Benn hit the line for the extra point, but failed.

Score, Evans City 6, Shenango 0. Most of the playing during the remainder of the quarter took place in mid-field.

Evans City's yard gainers, Kinsey, Benn and Kauffman, hit the line for two straight first downs, after Shenango lost the ball on downs. The visitors tried two passes which were incomplete. Kauffman hit the line but failed. Shenangoös line again held, as the blue and gold clad gridders took the oval on downs. The East New Castle eleven tried two passes which failed. Tanner went through the line for seven yards. With three yards to go for a first down, Shenango elected to hit the line, but lost the ball on downs.

Benn hit the wall and gained five yards, as the ball rested on the 15. Kauffman carried the ball for a first down. After two more line bucks failed, Kauffman fought his way through right guard for Evans City's second touchdown. A double pass, Marburger to Kinsey failed for the extra point. Score, Evans City 12 Shenango 0.

Shenango tried desperately to cross their opponents' goal line but soon lost the ball when Evans City intercepted a pass in mid-field. After one play, the game ended. Score, Evans City 12, Shenango 0.

The playing of Tanner, Bulisco, Fee and Gibson was outstanding for Shenango. Sarver and Kauffman were Evans City's best bets.

Following is the lineup and summary:

Shenango 0	Evans City 12

The scene is Louis' training camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J.

Cochrane Is "Ace" Catcher

Detroit Will Have Edge In Catching Department, Harnett Is Also Good

SMART CATCHERS HELPFUL TO TEAM

(This is the fourth of a series of articles by Pat Robinson, I. N. S. sports writer, on World Series prospects.)

(By PAT ROBINSON)
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Offhand, can you recall a poor catcher in a world series?

If you can't, it's because no team with a weak catcher is ever likely to get into the fall classic.

Three Good Catchers

From Bill Carrigan and Johnny Kling to Mickey Cochrane and Gabby Hartnett, the catchers have more than held up their end of the game! And this year will be no exception.

Let's look them over:

Mickey Cochrane, Tigers, .325; Gabby Hartnett, Cubs, .353 and Virgil Davis, Cardinals, .312. We can forget the Giants for while they still have a mathematical chance to win the pennant, it's about as good a chance as Kingfish Levinsky had against Joe Louis, and you remember where the Kingfish finished.

Even the most ardent National league rooter would hardly care to give his favorites more than an even break in the catching department. Ball players generally rate Cochrane as tops. Many oldtimers believe he is as good as any catcher who ever lived. Certainly, there never was a smarter one nor one who could do more with pitchers.

Second To None

In the mere mechanics of the game, he is second to none. He is fast; he can throw, he can field and he can hit.

In rating catchers, we always have to figure on their gameness but in this we must rate all three equal. No flying spikes are going to stop any of these men from blocking a runner at the plate, although Mickey, because of his greater agility, is more adept in nailing an elusive slider hitting the dirt in a fadeway. That same quickness also gives him an advantage in reaching foul flies.

Cochrane Is "Tops"

Cochrane's throwing arm is not as strong as Hartnett's but it could be much weaker and still be strong enough to get any embryonic base thief. In any event, base runners rarely steal on the catchers. They steal on pitchers who let them get too much of a jump and the Tigers pitchers are pretty good holding a runner to the bag.

All three figures to hit hard in this or any other series. Cochrane will be far more dangerous than either of his slow-footed rivals on the basepaths for he has the speed to take that extra base which so often means a ball game.

"Ready To Play Real Series"—Black

Claims Series On West Side Not Intended As Titular Play

Manager Alex Black of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company baseball team has submitted a letter to the sports department as follows:

"To the sport fans of Lawrence county:

"In the sporting sheet of Monday's paper myself and ball club read with a great deal of surprise that the Sixth Ward Firemen had laid claim to the championship of Lawrence county.

"When I consented to play the Firemen there was nothing said about a series for the championship of the county. It was merely another couple of ball games to make a little money for the boys. In the first place I would never consent to a three game series for the championship of the county and in the second place I could not arrange a series without the sanction of the league officials.

"As sportsmen we wish to acknowledge that the Firemen beat us in a fair and square manner but we refuse to concede the championship of the county to them in such a short series.

"Now if the Firemen wish to play a real series for the title I will agree to play them either a five or a seven game series, providing the league officials give their consent.

Franklin High Band At Game

The Ben Franklin junior high school band, under the direction of John Paton, provided the music for the football fans at the New Castle-Butler high grid game at Taggart field.

The Franklin band was "pinch-hitting" for the senior high band, which was heard at the New Castle Fair Thursday and Friday. The Franklin band played some right snappy tunes.

Warren Trims Erie Academy

Warren, Ohio Opens 1935 Season With 12 To 6 Victory Over Erie

PLAYS NEW CASTLE NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

WARREN, O., Sept. 21.—Warren high toppled the highly touted Erie Academy high school football team here last night in the start of the 1935 season, by a score of 12 to 6. Warren high will play at New Castle next Friday night.

Fulton scored both of the touchdowns for the Presidents, one in the first period and again in the final chapter. Erie Academy came close to scoring in the second period, taking the ball to the Warren one-yard line and being called back for offside play after an Erie man had crossed the goal line. Bartlett intercepted an Erie pass which gave Warren its final scoring chance, with Fulton going over from the 2-yard stripe.

Coach Pierre Hill will start drilling his Harding high gridders hard Monday for the battle at New Castle, Pa.

The summary:

Warren 12	Erie A. 6

Duquesne Tops Illinois Team

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—Duquesne University was off to a flying start today in its 1935 football campaign, holding a 20-6 triumph over the Illinois Wesleyan gridders in the season's district inaugural game.

The visitors proved to be stubborn opponents for the first three quarters, at the end of which time they held a 6-2 advantage. In the final quarter, the Dukes applied the pressure to count two touchdowns and clinch the victory.

Duequesne scored its first two points in the initial quarter, when Mike Basrak, local center, blocked an attempted punt and the ball rolled over into the end zone for an automatic safety. Jim Fillingham, speedy Charleroi back who captains the Dukes this year, accounted for all the rest of the locals' points, scoring two touchdowns.

Union Gridders Upset Mars 7-0

Annerella Scores Touchdown For Union From 3 Yard Line In Third Period

UNION ELEVEN IS IMPRESSIVE

Union high school football team took a 7 to 0 victory over Mars high yesterday afternoon at the Mars high field. It was a justly deserved victory for the Boydmen. Mars high never threatened the Blue and White Unionites.

The first downs just about tell the story with Union having 14 and Mars having two. Union lost several chances to score during the game by fumbling and being overanxious. Head Coach Dave Boyd was forced to start the game with three of his first string backfield men on the bench with injuries.

Several times in the first period Union had the ball deep in Mars territory only to lose it on downs or by penalties. A number of times union had the ball within the Mars 5-yard line in the second period but lacked the punch to take it over. At the end of the first half the Unionites had the ball on the Mars 4-inch line.

Annerella Scores

Eve, Guinaugh and Annerella did some nice ball carrying for Union in the first half. L. Woods, the colored halfback for Mars, was the whole works, doing the passing, punting and most of the running of the ball.

Union scored in the third period. Union kicked off and the ball was taken by Mars and on the first play, Stevick of Mars, fumbled and Pattison recovered for Union on the Mars 30-yard line. Four plays later with Eve and Guinaugh carrying the ball, Union reached the 3-yard line again and from this point Annerella carried it over for the touchdown, with Annerella drop-kicking the extra point. Union 7—Mars 0.

Union started several other rushes to the goal line in the fourth and final period, but again they lacked the punch to put it over. When the game ended the Unionites were in possession of the ball on the Mars 3-yard line.

Evans City Next

Union completed two out of four passes, and Mars made one out of three via the aerial route.

The Union outstanding players were Fulton, Eve, Smith, Pattison, Annerella and Kenehan.

Next week Union high will play Evans City high at the Evans City high field.

The summary:

Mars—0.	Union—7.

Rumor Factory Starts Working On Louis-Baer

Many Believe That Fight Will Be Repetition Of Sharkey And Dempsey

RECORD CROWD IS LOOKED FOR

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Over and above the unlovely symphony of a great city lifting itself to the tempo of its greatest prize fight ran the thread of an obligato this morning—a thin, penetrating, small but not still voice that said that there might be a repetition of the Dempsey-Sharkey fair-or-foul situation when Max Baer and Joe Louis meet before 90,000 people on Tuesday night.

Baer, it was said, wants to play rough. It also was pointed out that anything is possible here owing to the eccentricities of the low-punch rule, drafted by a committee of comic strip artists following a bad night at Sweeney's. The rule distinctly states that a man, when hit low, wins the round on a foul, provided the indignity is so trivial that he is able to arise and proceed with the combat.

Rumors Started.

If, on the other hand, the foul is so flagrant as to permanently disable the victim, he is not fouled at all but, instead, may consider himself knocked out. On thinking that one over, I'm inclined to change my mind. It wasn't comic strip artists. It must have been the League of Nations at Geneva.

Anyhow, the alarmists, always in circulation before a big fight muttering bitterly about "bags" and the "works", are operating again.

They were operating, as a matter of fact, two days ago at which time I paid them no especial heed. I am paying them not too much now, but apparently others are. There was a surprising amount of Baer sentiment on the street today—surprising in view of the gentleman's extraordinary behavior when last he performed in public, at which time he spent 15 rounds simpering brutally at James J. Braddock.

The story even seemed to obtain some credence down at Pompton Lakes where there have been legends about "private workouts" in which Trainer Jack Blackburn is understood to have passed on some quiet tips on the business of being unrefined and not too genteel. Blackburn doubtless knows something of what can be done, for he is a carryover from an age where the brass knuckle was considered de riguer and the average man was so tough that he brushed his teeth with a nail file.

Hotels Filled.

However, as I say, no big fight is complete without its quota of inuendoes, real and fancied. In fact, generally speaking, it isn't even big without them.

Otherwise, all is tranquil, except that many hotels were selling themselves out and the fight was rapidly doing so. It had more than $800,000 in the till when they closed the windows last night and, with a fair shake in the weather over the weekend, it can't miss a million. The promoters, indeed, feel reasonably certain that they'll play to a capacity of 100,000 at the Yankee stadium with a record non-championship gate of $1,200,000.

The Baer sentiment, incidentally, has not been monetary. Sam Boston and some of the others books claim that they are holding large commissions but, so far, they haven't done business for the change out of a quarter. They are "laying" 8 to 5 or "taking" 2 to 1, meaning that if you want Baer, they'll give you 8 to 5, but if you want Louis, they'll give the one and you'll give the two.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

There were four heats, the remainder of two races held over from Thursday at the Fair grounds Friday. The crowd was the largest seen in years. The reason was that not only were trots and paces staged but motorcycle and other motor vehicle events. Several times it was necessary for attaches of the course to clear the track at the far turn for fear that one of the motorcycles might skid into the crowd. One thing certain yesterday was that there were no delays. A. C. Shoaf had the events run off in very systematic manner and Harry Goll the starter got the horses away in good shape. The judges were Byers, Hartwell, McGeorge and Alexander and the clockers were Crowl and Brinton. There will be four races this afternoon after which the horses will be transported to some other circuit.

Henry Firpo, slugger from Louisville, slugged with the wrong chap last night at Asbury Park, N. J. and that chap's name was Bob Olin, the lightweight champion of the world. Olin laid Firpo low in the third round. Henry probably has put the best of his fighting days in the rear. However, in speaking of Yarosz and Risko, George Chip, former middleweight champion and Bernie Hanlon, a keen fan, said yesterday that, in his prime Firpo could have beaten either one of them and had space to spare. Chip believes that had Yarosz abandoned his slugging tractics and adhered to the scientific end, he might yet be champion. George was the guest of the Sportsmen's Enterprise which promoted the fight. They deserve credit for not forgetting a former middleweight champion.

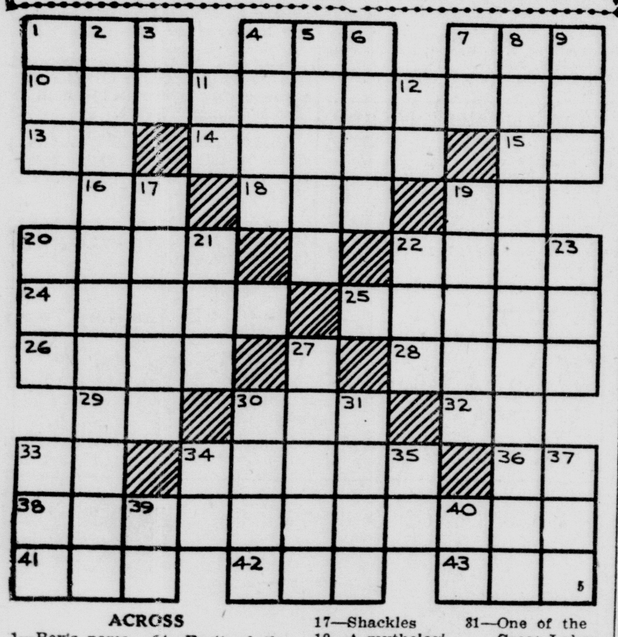

Men had more character in the old days. The Lord chose twelve poor men and only one betrayed him for money.

Stock Market Is Hesitant

European Situation Has Effect On Early Morning Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Hopes that war might yet be averted despite Italy's rejection of the league peace proposals buoyed an extremely nervous and hesitant stock market today.

Commodity markets also reflected hopes for peace as wheat broke more than a cent a bushel both here and abroad and cotton sold down 30 cents a bale.

Capital, though, continued its flight from Europe, and another $23,000,000 was taken for shipment to this country on top of $30,000,000 yesterday making $53,000,000 in two days.

Chrysler turned easy but met support around yesterday's close. General Motors and other auto shares drifted listlessly.

N. Y. Central gained a half point and other carrier shares held firmly.

Steel Holds Close

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem as well as the other industrials remained around yesterday's close.

Utilities were listless although Consolidated Gas advanced fractionally.

Rail equipments, specially, chemical, oils, and food shares were quiet and mixed.

The bond market showed a moderately improved tone as U. S. government firmed, while the dollar was a shade easier.

Veterans Start Trek To Homes

Veterans Of Foreign Wars End Sessions At New Orleans

ALTOONA MAN IS RETAINED AS HEAD

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 21—Weary and apparently happy, thousands of veterans of foreign wars, were returning to their homes today, as the merrymaking and serious business which marked the 36th national encampment, ended.

By train, private car and bus, they left the city which united them for almost a week, the majority determined to reunite next year in Denver, the site chosen for their national encampment in 1936.

Officers Named

In a six day session which officially opened Sunday night with memorial services and closed last night with election of officers, the V. F. W. took some positive action in veteran affairs.

Most important are:

Favoring immediate bonus payment with interest charges canceled and backing the Steiwer-Byrnes bill to this purpose.

Officers elected at this encampment were:

J. E. Van Zandt, Altoona, Pa., commander-in-chief;

Barnard Kearney, Gloversville, N. Y., senior vice-commander;

Scott P. Squires, Oklahoma City, junior vice-commander;

Henry F. Marquand, Chicago, judge advocate;

Dr. Joseph Menendez, New Orleans, surgeon general.

Umberto Nobile Called To Rome

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Umberto Nobile, one of Italy's great air heroes, who has been serving in Moscow as deputy chief of Soviet airship construction by permission of the Italian government, today was recalled to Rome, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Moscow.

Nobile, leader of the ill-fated North Pole expedition of 1926 as well as an inventor and aeronautical engineer, will leave Moscow shortly, the dispatch said.

The presumption was Nobile was needed to aid Italy in building a war fleet for the air.

CUMMINS ENJOYS TRIP THROUGH SOUTH

Earl B. Cummins, local veteran, who with his family is enjoying a tour through the south, writes from New Orleans that he has had a fine trip, and has attended the sessions of the V. F. W. convention there. He is going on next week to St. Louis to attend the American Legion convention, after which he will return to his home here.

Governor Moves To Save Miners From Evictions

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.— Gov. George H. Earle today intervened to forestall eviction of 63 families from company-owned houses of five coal companies in Western Pennsylvania.

Pointing out the distress which would result from further evictions, the governor wrote to heads of the companies asking that some action be taken to continue the present shelter afforded the families.

The State Emergency Relief Board, the governor said, cannot make adequate housing provisions without additional funds "if evictions continue at the present alarming rate."

Would Cause Distress

Governor Earle's appeal was directly related to the proposed eviction of 42 families by the Weirton Steel Company, Isabella; 17 families by the H. C. Frick Coke Company, Scottdale; two families by the Monessen Coal and Coke Company, Pittsburgh, and one family each by the Indian Creek Coal Company, Indian Creek, and the Pittsburgh Coal Company, Pittsburgh.

"Under present economic conditions, with winter approaching, such action would cause great distress," the governor wrote. "Since those threatened with eviction are victims of conditions for which they are not responsible and over which they have no control, I would appreciate whatever action your company may be able to take to prevent these evictions."

Verdicts Returned In Cases At Court

Sally May Hodges Of Ellwood And Rosy Taylor Of The Same Place Found Guilty

Sally May Hodges of Ellwood City, was found guilty by a jury at court Friday afternoon on the first count of an indictment which charged her with running a bawdy house. On the second count, which charged running a disorderly house she was found not guilty.

Rosy Taylor, who was charged with larceny from the person, was found guilty. Both cases were tried together before Judge Hildebrand.

Doc Hopkins, charged with breaking and entering, and with the larceny of $3 from John Burlough of Ellwood City, was found guilty. The case was tried before Judge Hildebrand.

In the case of Sam Pistachio in which he was charge with assault and battery on Mrs. Frank Duncan, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and divided the costs equally between the prosecutrix and the defendant. The case was tried before Judge Chambers.

When Father Disinherited Baron For Marrying Noted Stage Beauty

Poses of Anita Berber, Vienese beauty, and her husband, Baron Willy Knobloch.

By M. O. CHENOWETH
Central Press Staff Writer

THE "NEVER darken my door again" plot, by which an angered father disinherits a son or daughter for a wrong-doing, and turns the unfortunate offspring out of his house to brave the cold rigors of the world alone, often has been used in fiction. And occasionally there is a true-life sequel to the time-worn plot. One such true rendition of it was the case of Baron Willy Knobloch, scion of an old Austrian family, who was disinherited by his kin for marrying Anita Berber, famous Vienese beauty and continental stage star of the late 'teens and early twenties. At the time there were few women in Europe who could rival Miss Berber in beauty, and after her marriage, Baron Knobloch in 1922 declared to the world in a newspaper interview that he had the "most wonderful wife in the world". He dubbed her the "Queen of Wives".

New "Share-the-Wealth" Twins

Slated to Head Pro-Long Ticket in Louisiana

Wade Martin — James Noe — A. J. Ellender

Louisiana will vote for two senators in January, with Wade Martin, public service commissioner, expected to be choice of Long faction to succeed to the late senator's unexpired term, and Gov. O. K. Allen the favorite for the full term. Either Lieut. Gov. James A. Noe or A. J. Ellender, speaker of the House, is figured as gubernatorial choice of Long machine for governor. (Central Press)

Seventy-five thousand candles of pure beeswax have been ordered for the great midnight mass Wednesday, September 25, in Cleveland's stadium, one of the most impressive of the many religious ceremonies of the National Eucharistic Congress. Candles will be carried by all the participants and will be the only light in the outdoor cathedral. Miss Helen Schwenk, employee of a Medina, O., candle plant, is shown trimming the tapers.

Huge Dams to Stand for Generations as Monuments to Emergency

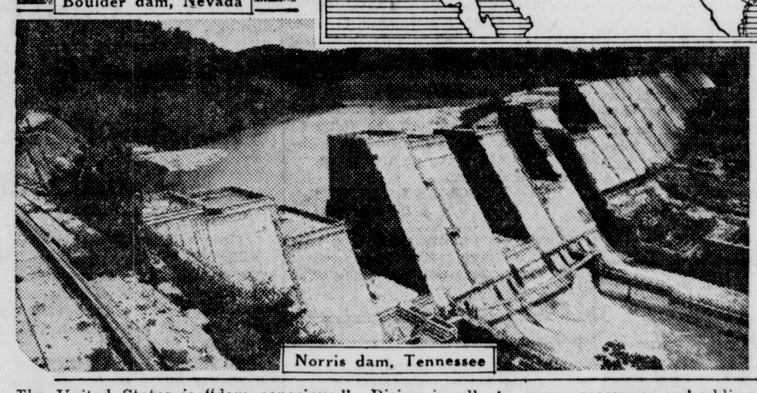

Boulder dam, Nevada

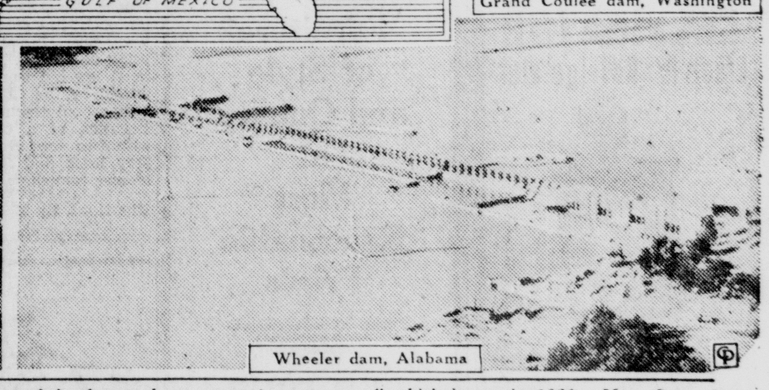

Grand Coulee dam, Washington

Norris dam, Tennessee

Wheeler dam, Alabama

The United States is "dam conscious." Rising in all parts of the country these dams, utilizing the nation's power resources and adding to federal control over running water, will stand as monuments to the "national emergency" which began in 1929. Map above shows the great dams in the federal program.

Japan Foresees Big Benefit If War Develops

Commercial Supremacy In Orient Expected, If Europe Is Involved

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Sept. 21.—Japan's expectation of immense permanent benefits from an European war, especially the winning of commercial supremacy in the orient for Nippon, was refelcted today in an acceleration of the stock and commodity market boom.

On the other hand, Italy's "troubled finances will bankrupt her if there is prolonged war," finance minister Korekiyo Takahashi publicly declared.

Italy is already in financial straits, he added.

Prices of war and related materials, steadily rising for several months, soared rapidly today on the basis of news from nervous European capitals, accompanied by vigorous denunciations of Italy in the Japanese Vernacular press, including bitter caricatures of Premier Mussolini.

Copper, tin, lead, and aluminun quotations reached new peaks on the basis of Italian buying and speculation for the future. Iron, steel, and coal boomed with the expectation that exports would be added to domestic requirements. Shipping and munitions shares are rising daily, while cotton and rayon products are forcing ahead of foreign calls.

Japanese manufacturers believe that far eastern market will be phenomenally increased and Japan's ascendancy over Britain in the orient will become assured if warfare should cut off traffic through the Suez canal.

Profit through the chartering of Japanese ships at high rates would result from a return to the long swing around the African Cape.

Considerable Japanese cargo previously sent through the Suez canal to Europe has already been diverted to the Panama canal, due chiefly to the newly-imposed war-time insurance rates in the Mediterranean.

Missing School Boy Is Suicide

Boby Of Crippled Youth Is Found In Blacklick Creek Near Johnstown

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21.—Found in the shallow Blacklick creek the body of a crippled youth had been identified today as Frank Kotelnicki, 17, who ran away from home September 4 to evade school, according to authorities.

The badly decomposed body was found, according to police, by Stanley Berzanski, who saw an arm extending above the placid pool while hunting mushrooms.

Preliminary investigation by Deputy Coroner Everett E. Custer and state troopers disclosed no evidence of foul play, which led the authorities to believe the youth took his life.

The body was identified by a neighbor, Anna Smartz, who told police the youth complained that the school seats were uncomfortable, and indicated his intention to run away.

AS BARRYMORE LED ELAINE BARRIE A MERRY CHASE IN CHICAGO

"NOT IN THIS HOTEL." "HE WENT THE OTHER WAY."

"I JUST CAN'T FIND HIM."

Miss Elaine Barrie, screen actress and youthful protege of John Barrymore, is pictured, above, as she searched high and low in Chicago for the screen's perfect lover. Barrymore succeeded in "ditching" Miss Barrie by sending his baggage on ahead of him and also by staying at an obscure hotel in La Grange, suburb of Chicago. The impulsive maiden, learning the fact that Barrymore's baggage was on the train bound for Los Angeles, boarded the train, but Barrymore was not there. After breaking relations with Miss Barrie, the actor boarded a train in New York and arrived in Chicago prior to the arrival of Barrymore's train. But her trip was to no avail when she got on the train and pounded on the actor's compartment door to find no answer to her "beck and call". It was later learned that Barrymore jumped off the train in the railroad yards and hurried to the hotel.

Adjourn Hearing On Milk Control

Testimony Shows New Order Would Result In Drastic Reduction Of Profits

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21. — The state milk control board's re-hearing on its proposed new order governing the milk industry today was in adjournment until next Tuesday, when the board will open its case.

Testimony that the new order would result in a drastic reduction of profits shown by milk dealers was offered by the petitioning dealers' last witness, Horace Rhodes, comptroller for Supplee-Wills-Jones, Philadelphia milk firm.

Dealers protesting the general order, originally scheduled to become effective September 1 but postponed for the current hearing, offered evidence during the past fortnight intended to show that the order would work undue hardship on farmers as well as dealers.

Bids For Highway Work Are Entered

Bids Received For Two State Federal-Aid Highway Projects

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—Bids for two more projects in the state's new federal-aid highway construction program were in the hands of Secretary of Highways Warren Van Dyke today.

Thirty-seven bids were received on the two projects which call for improvements to 5.25 miles of highway and bridge construction. Award of the program's first two projects was announced Thursday.

The indiana Construction company, Indiana, was unofficial low bidder for 1.99 miles of concrete pavement in Conemaugh and Young townships, Indiana county, at a price of $89,230. The other unofficial low bid was for $140,125 submitted by the County Construction company, Pittsburgh, for the construction of a concrete pavement with two concrete bridges in Slippery Rock and Slippery Rock and Mercer townships, Butler county.

Shipping Gold To United States

Huge Quantities Being Sent To America From England

STOCKS DROP ON LONDON MARKET

By NEWELL ROGERS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The weekend closing of the stock exchange gave operators a breathing spell today after the panicky conditions that made yesterday "black Friday" in Throgmorton St.

In the gilt-edged market alone, it was estimated that securities lost $400,000,000 through Friday's liquidation.

The British exchange equalization stepped in to slow up the fall of the pound, but the outflow of money to New York continued unstemmed.

More than $100,000,000 in gold has been shipped from Europe to America during the last ten days.

American dollars opened at $4.91½ to the pound, up 5-16, and French francs gained 1-16 point at 74 21-32. The price of gold was set at 141 shillings, five pence an ounce.

The pound closed at $4.91⅜ on New York, at $4.98¾ on Montreal, and at 74 21-32 francs on Paris.

Indicating the war expectations of Lloyds Marine underwriters, a graduated list of insurance ratse for shipments through the Mediteranean and to the East via the Suez canal was published today.

For immediate sailings, the rate against war risks is quoted at two shillings, sixpence (about 60 cents) per hundred pounds, which is the nominal rate for war risks in normal times.

But for sailings in October, the rate is doubled, and for November sailings the rate is four times the normal price, or ten shillings per hundredweight.

Insurance rates for shipments to Italian colonial ports, particularly Somaliland, range up as high as 27 shillings, sixpence.

"Strip Dance" Is Raided By Police At Wilkinsburg

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—Four women and a man today faced hearings on charges of staging an immoral show following a raid on a "girl show" in a suburban Wilkinsburg hotel last night.

Sam Katz, 30, and Nancy Carson, 22, were accused of contributing to indecency and conducting an immoral show. Three girl dancers were also held. Some 300 men and boys were routed from the place, but many, including girls said to have been billed for "strip acts", escaped.

Most of the spectators taken were released pending hearings. Among the "customers" were boys of high school age, elderly men and a few minor political figures.

Suit For $25,000 Damages Is Brought

L. G. Nail Files Action Against Thomas F. Morehead For Auto Accident

L. G. Nail has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Thomas F. Morehead, in which he asks for $25,000, for injuries sustained in an auto accident, when a car owned by Mr. Morehead, and driven by his chauffeur, Hanson Duffin, collided with the Nail car at the intersection of Park avenue and Highland avenue.

Mr. Nail claims that he was driving north on Highland avenue and was about across the street intersection, when Duffin, driving south on Highland, swung his car around to make a left hand turn into east Park avenue, and struck his car.

Nail was thrown forward and wedged between the steering wheel and the seat. He had his right collar bone fractured, his right shoulder broken, and sustained other injuries which kept him in the Jameson Memorial hospital for two weeks and about ten weeks in bed at home.

He claims that as a result of the accident he has been unable to work, and that his injuries are of a permanent nature. He blames the accident on Duffin's carelessness in operating his car.
